

STARTLING TESTIMONY IN THE INSURANCE CASE

CHINESE ROMANCE SECRETS REVEALED AT HAYWARD BY SENATOR

YOT YEE, SON.

MARTHA YEE, DAUGHTER. MARTHA JANE YEE, MOTHER.

Son of a White Woman and Chinese Goes to Father's Old Home to Take a Bride.

That for ways that are dark,
And for tricks that are vain,
The Heathen Chinese is peculiar.
—From poems by Bret Harte.

HAYWARD, Nov. 21.—Here's a strange story of a Chinese romance, interwoven with matter of fact American life. It began in the sunflower kingdom far across the sea, 'neath the apple, blossomed trees and is carried over to California's sunny shore and finally out to Hayward to grow amid the unromantic surroundings of a common-place Chinese laundry.

And the final chapter is yet to be written in the Emperor's realm.

Long years ago, when it was yet the vogue for everyone in China to wear pigtailed and flowing blouses, Chong Yot Yee was a prosperous merchant. But the spirit of the immigrant was in his soul and he determined to see what the future had in store for him in the far off United States.

CAME TO CALIFORNIA.
So Chong Yot Yee bartered off his possessions, bade goodbye to his many friends and relatives, put his gold in a pig-skin bag and sailed for California. He arrived here in the early forties, be-

Platt Makes Sensational Statements at Insurance Investi- gation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—United States Senator Platt testified before the Insurance Investigating Committee today.

Mr. Platt said that the Equitable Society contributed $10,000 a year to the Republican State campaign fund. Senator Platt said the contributions were in cash and were sent by messengers to his office and he turned them over to the State Committee. They were unsolicited, he said.

Senator Platt said that $10,000 was frequently paid as an annual contribution to the State campaign fund, but that it was not a regular thing, and that he could not remember the years in which it was paid. The New York Life Insurance Company, he said, also contributed, but not nearly so much. No other insurance companies contributed so far as he knew. Senator Platt said he was expected in return for the contributions to influence legislation when any measures were hostile to the insurance company. He added that he does not know Andrew Hamilton nor anything about Hamilton's activity before the legislature. He knew nothing about Andrew C. Fields, who represented the Mutual Life Insurance Company of Albany.

Senator Platt said also that he had received frequent contributions of $10,000 each from the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—John A. Nichols, a lawyer and quarantine commissioner of the port of New York from 1880 to 1892, who wrote the letters to Senator Chauncey M. Depew in behalf of his "friend who usually gets around at this time of the year," and who he wrote was getting "rambunctious" and needed help, was the first witness before the Insurance Investigating Committee today. Much interest had been aroused by the reading of Nichols' letters to Senator Depew on Friday. The Senator was not able to remember who Mr. Nichols' friend was. As shown by vouchers under observation by the committee on Friday, Mr. Nichols received retainers from the Equitable Life Assurance Society. When he went before the committee today he testified that he had been employed by the Equitable Society for twenty to twenty-five years under an annual retainer of $1000 and said he is still under that retainer. Recently he was employed by the Mutual Life Insurance Company. He was consulted by the officers of the Equitable Society on matters not connected with the legislature in 1904.

One of the others entrusted to him was that of W. S. Manning of Albany. Witness said that Manning, who had been an actuary, was employed by certain people to bring charges against the Equitable that the reserve was not so large as it ought to be. Manning was paid $450, Mr. Nichols said, "so that he would be favorable to the company."

WHY IT WAS PAID.

Witness later said that this was paid to keep Manning from being employed against the company. He thought these payments had been made for over a period of fifteen years. Sometimes the payments reached $650. Other payments were made to a man named Kerr, a correspondent of a New York paper, now dead. Kerr was paid certain sums for two or three years, but the sums were not mentioned by the witness. The vouchers signed by Mr. Nichols were produced. A payment of $6000 July 1, 1899, witness could not remember, but answering Mr. Hughes, he said he thought it was to enable him to pay somebody else.

Vouchers dated October, 1888, for $6,714 and July 1, 1890, for $6,000, witness was also unable to explain, but thought he could remember later when he could refresh his memory.

The letter of the witness to Senator Depew, dated December, 1896, relative to "our friend who gets around at this time of the year," was read to the witness and he said it referred to Mr. Manning. He wrote to Senator Depew because the Senator was on the finance committee of the Equitable Society, and that he expected the Senator to turn the letter over to the executive officers. The letter of December 4, 1902, relative to "our rambunctious friend from up the river," witness also said referred to Mr. Manning. Mr. Manning, he said, wanted

YOUNG ROOSEVELT'S NOSE OUT OF JOINT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 21.—Investigation of a report that Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., had his nose broken in last Saturday's football game between the freshmen of Harvard and Yale today discloses the fact that the young man will submit to an operation within a day for an old injury received in a boxing match and not on the gridiron. Some time ago one of the small bones on the young man's nose was broken by a blow received in a friendly bout. The fracture was set at the time, but as it healed the nose became slightly misshaped.

CHILD BURNED IN BARN

MISSION SAN JOSE, Nov. 21.—Little six-year-old Joe S. Ab-rico, who resides with his parents on a farm near the Mission San Jose, met a terrible death this morning by his clothing catching fire while he was playing in the barn with matches. The perilous predicament of the child was not known until a hired man, attracted by the agonized screams of the child, rushed to its assistance. The flames, however, had communicated themselves from the child's dress to the inflammable hay and in a moment the interior of the barn was a roaring furnace. The hired man was just able to drag the body of the burned child out of the seething mass of fire, but the life of the little victim had already been forfeited to the hungry flames.

The mother of the child was not aware of the fate of her child until she saw the barn in flames. She rushed to the scene, but was too late to do any good. She fell in a swoon by her dead offspring.

The barn was a total loss. Coroner Mehrmann has been notified of the death and will hold an inquest.

M'NULTY UNDER ARREST

Dorothy Olsen Swears
Out Warrant in a
Berkeley Court.

After much indecision and delay Dorothy Olsen has sworn to a complaint charging Lester McNulty of Berkeley as being the man who assaulted her one night as she was going home from a car on which they had both ridden out from Oakland.

Policeman Jameson of Berkeley had the warrant for McNulty's arrest and served it.

News of his being wanted came on the heels of the resignation of McNulty, handed to County Clerk John P. Cook this morning, and the appointment of A. J. Woolsey by County Clerk Cook to fill the vacancy.

"Owing to the recent scandal connecting his name with the alleged assault on Miss Olsen, McNulty this morning went to the County Clerk's office and handed in the following letter to County Clerk Cook:

HIS RESIGNATION.

"John P. Cook, Esq., County Clerk, Dear Sir: In view of the use of my name in connection with the alleged assault, I deem it my duty to tender my resignation as a deputy county clerk."

"In doing so, as the result of mature deliberation, I, nevertheless, stoutly assert my entire and absolute innocence of the truth of any of the statements made, and positively state that I was in no wise directly or indirectly concerned in the matter."

"I do feel, however, that the publicity given to the statements may impel some people to believe that I may have been guilty, and my continuance in your office, under those circumstances, might result in an injury to the good name of your office."

"I therefore feel that, in justice to yourself, I should tender my resignation, to take effect at your pleasure."

"Again protesting my entire innocence, and with the fullest confidence that time will demonstrate that fact to everyone, I beg to remain, very truly yours,

"LESTER C. M'NULTY."

"November 21, 1905."
The warrant was sworn to before Justice of the Peace Edgar, who fixed McNulty's bail at $3,000 bond, or $2,000 cash, and issued a warrant for McNulty's arrest, which was given to the police to serve.

County Clerk Cook stated that he had accepted the resignation and owing to the shortness of help in his office had taken immediate steps to fill the vacancy and had chosen A. J. Woolsey. And in this connection he said: "He is a bright young man and a thorough gentleman. He is the brother of Dr. Frank Woolsey and Walter P. Woolsey, a real estate man of Berkeley. He is a graduate of the State University and at present is engaged in studying law."

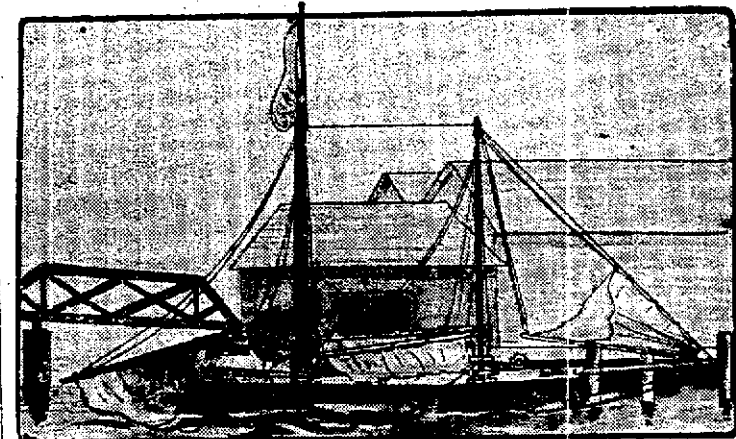

McNulty was arrested at his home in Berkeley about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon and taken to the Town Hall where arrangements were immediately made for his bail.

Mr. McNulty secured bondsmen in the persons of George Schmidt and Daniel Frasier.

GROVE JOHNSON VERY LOW

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—Former Congressman Grove L. Johnson, who had an attack of hemorrhage of the lungs last night, is in such a critical condition that the attending physicians do not hold out any hope. He had two more hemorrhages this forenoon.

TWO MEN BURNED ON A SCHOONER

THE SCOW SCHOONER SOPHIA E. ON WHICH TWO MEN WERE BURNED TO DEATH LAST NIGHT.

Fire Overtook Them While They Slept on the Vessel Tied to the Wharf.

Fire at 1 o'clock this morning broke out in the cabin of the scow-schooner Sophia E, which was moored at the Webster street wharf, and burned to death Peter M. Barges, a cook 28 years of age and an unknown man, who was picked up on the street by Barges and given shelter for the night. The cause of the fire is unknown, but it is thought that a lamp was overturned, setting fire to the cabin.

SCHOONER ON FIRE.

At 1 o'clock this morning a column of flames were seen to shoot high into the heavens from the schooner. Those who happened along the water front and who saw the flames turned in an alarm. The fire was discovered to be issuing from the cabin of the schooner, which was partially screened from view from the flour ward house of Charles E. Butler. Upon the arrival of the fire department, Fire Chief Ball directed that a stream of water be thrown on the vessel in such a manner as to protect the lives of any one who might be aboard the boat.

The flames and smoke, however, had claimed the lives of the two sleeping victims before the department had arrived. The fire burned briskly in the interior of the scow until the firemen chopped away a portion of the vessel and flooded the inside. The hull of the vessel was saved, but the interior was thoroughly gutted. A hasty search by the firemen revealed the fact that two men had been burned to death.

TWO BURNED.

The first body recovered was that of Barges. The firemen then came across the body of the unknown man and also removed that. It seems that Barges had been in the habit of sleeping aboard the vessel at night and taking charge of it while at anchor. During the earlier part of the evening he visited a number of saloons in Oakland and when he returned brought with him a friend, whose name has not yet been ascertained.

Barges was single. He leaves, however, a mother, three brothers and two sisters, who reside in San Francisco. One of the brothers came to the morgue this morning to make arrangements for the funeral.

THE INQUEST.

Coroner Mehrmann will hold an inquest on the remains of the two unfortunates tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock. The remains of both men are badly charred and are unrecognizable. It is probable that the stranger who accompanied Barges to the boat will forever remain unidentified, unless some person who saw the two together earlier in the evening can inform the Coroner of his identity.

The vessel damaged to belongs to Charles H. Butler, the flour merchant and carried supplies between Oakland and Port Costa. The schooner arrived yesterday afternoon and the stevedores had already begun to unload her. At 7 o'clock last night George Hoffman, the captain of the boat, left for his home in Elmhurst and was not aware of the destruction of the scow until this morning. He was unable to throw any light upon the identity of the stranger who was burned.

CHAS. E. SNOOK IS HONORED

Former District Attorney Charles E. Snook is being congratulated on all sides on his appointment to be resident attorney for the Western Pacific Railroad. This is considered among lawyers as an evidence of the high standing of Mr. Snook at the bar. Mr. Snook rendered the Western Pacific valuable services at the time the company was seeking a right of way through Sacramento, and his efficiency in the special matters committed to his charge undoubtedly prompted his employment as permanent local counsel for the company. Mr. Snook is also attorney for the Board of Regents of the State University.

SENATOR REVEALS SECRETS

Platt Tells of Money Collected From Insurance Companies.

to know whether the arrangement of yearly payments by the Equitable Society was to be continued. Witness said Manning went into this arrangement under his (Nichols') persuasion. Mr. Nichols said he induced Manning to give up his business as an actuary because Manning had been antagonistic.

DIDN'T RECALL.
Witness thought Mr. Manning was connected with the investigation of insurance companies in 1877 but he did not know in what capacity. He did not recall that Manning threatened to publish results of that investigation that had not been made public. Manning, according to Mr. Hughes, claimed that he had information of that investigation which, if published, would seriously affect the Equitable Society, and Mr. Hughes asked Mr. Nichols if that was not the reason this money was paid to Manning. Witness said he had no recollection of this point.

FALSE NAMES.
The names of Plerson, Brooker, Balderson and numerous others on vouchers on which payments were made, witness said, were false names, used to protect Manning and keep his name out of the matter. During this same period witness was employed by the Mutual Life Insurance Company in looking after Manning, as Mr. Hughes termed it, and paid Manning for the Mutual sums like those paid for the Equitable. The same system of using false names to protect Manning was followed in his dealing with the Mutual. Witness said he received $1000 annually. For a time he received $1000 also from the New York Life Insurance Company, but they discontinued it about 1890.

Witness said Manning wanted to "follow up the New York Life" but he "quieted him without the use of additional money."

Nichols said he did not know where Manning is now. He could not recall that he had had any business with any of the three insurance companies other than in the Manning matter.

Thomas Conans, who said he looked after real estate and city complaints for the Equitable Society, was next called. He was formerly president of the Board of Aldermen and acting Mayor upon Mayor Hoffman's election to the Governorship. He has held no office since 1872. He entered the employment in 1882. He looked after matters that were referred to him. Mr. Hughes asked if he was the intermediary between the city departments and the Equitable Society, and the witness replied, "Whenever they required anything."

Mr. Conans said he is a member of Cummy Hall. He said he looked after getting the tax assessments of the officers of the Equitable Society reduced. Among these, he said, were Henry B. Hyde, James H. Hyde and Gage E. Tarbell. He had never received money for political purposes, nor any contributions to Tammany Hall.

At this point, Senator Thomas C. Platt arrived and Mr. Conans was temporarily excused.

SENATOR PLATT.
Senator Platt's entrance created a stir in the committee room. He walked slowly on the arm of Robert C. Morris, his counsel, and leaning heavily on a cane. He took the witness stand and was sworn. Mr. Morris started to address the committee, but stopped upon Chairman Armstrong's explanation that counsel are not heard formally by the committee.

Senator Platt had been carried up the stairs of the city hall to the door of the committee room in a chair. When he was seated and sworn, Mr. Morris said that the Senator would answer all questions freely and frankly.

In reply to questions by Mr. Hughes, Senator Platt said that he had received contributions more particularly from the Equitable Life Insurance Society solely for the State campaign fund, and during a period of at least the last ten years. The contributions were of $10,000 each. He could not tell when they commenced, but they continued every year for some time. He received no money from the Equitable for the local campaigns, nor for the expenses of any candidate for the legislature. The money was divided as seemed expedient. The packages of money, he said, were sent over to his office by a messenger and he immediately turned them over to the chairman, secretary or treasurer of the state committee. They were all cash contributions, all came by messenger, and all came voluntarily. Senator Platt said he could not remember whether he made a request for the contributions at the very beginning or that they were a fixed sum of $10,000 a year.

GETS THE MONEY.
Senator Platt said he occasionally received contributions of $10,000 each from the Mutual Life Insurance Company, but that he could not tell on what year nor how often. These contributions did not come annually, but at different times within the last ten years. He returned the money over to the state committee. The Senator said he believed that he dealt with President R. A. McCurdy in regard to these contributions.

"I simply asked him at various times when necessities were very urgent for money and he said he would be glad to subscribe," said the Senator.

"The money, the Senator said, was always sent to him by a messenger, and was intended for use in the State campaign. President McCurdy understood, the Senator said, that the Senator was not representing the national committee, the Mutual Life, he said, made no contributions to the local campaign, nor in the interest of any candidate for State office other than in the general campaign. While testifying about the gifts of the Mutual Life, the Senator once replied that he understood that he was talking about the New York Life Insurance Company, but afterwards said he meant the Mutual. When he was asked whether he had received any funds from the New York Life Insurance Company, he said he thought he had very seldomly. He had dealt with President John A. McCull, giving him money, and McCull, he said, asked directly whether McCull gave him any money. The Senator replied: "CANNOT REMEMBER."

"I cannot say positively whether he did or not. I cannot remember."

"It has been suggested to me that you had some thing to do with the collection of funds for the Harrison campaign, the raising of a fund of $140,000. Do you recall that?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"I do not," said the Senator.

"No. My memory could not tell me whether it was the Harrison campaign or what campaign it was."

NONE FOR NATIONAL.
"You are clear in your mind that you never had any contributions made to you for the purpose of a national campaign?"

"Yes, I am clear in my mind that I never had any contributions made to me for a national campaign, although I sometimes, in talking with gentlemen about it, said I thought it would be a good thing for them to subscribe because of the raising of the national campaign on a State or national basis."

"And with whom have you had such conversations? I mean connected with insurance companies, of course?"

"I am not sure as to whom I talked," said the Senator.

The Senator said he did not think he had talked to President McCurdy about that matter, but that he may have talked with President McCull, though he did not know of campaign contributions. He did not know of campaign contributions, but he knew of other insurance companies doing business in this State.

Mr. Platt said he did not know anything about Andrew Hamilton, to whom the New York Life had paid large sums for legal expenses, nor did he know anything about his work at Albany. He knew A. C. Meigs, who had charge of the house maintained by the Mutual Life Insurance Company at Albany, but he did not know anything about services at Albany or about any money paid by insurance companies to Meigs.

NEVER INQUIRED.
"So far as you know, Senator, what have the insurance companies done in connection with legislation or preventing legislation in this State?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"I do not know of anything they have done. I never inquired into that, nor have I sought my influence at all in connection with the insurance companies."

"Do you know what disposition has been made of the contributions by the insurance companies?"

"I do not know anything about it, sir. I do not know where the contributions over to the State committee and then my connections with them ended."

"Do you know whether, by virtue of such contributions, any allotments of money were made for the purpose of helping a campaign of candidates for the Legislature?"

"There was not that I know of."

"Inquiries have been made from time to time here with regard to the insurance department, what influence had the insurance companies in regard to the appointment of the superintendent of insurance, so far as you know?"

"I don't think they had any influence, so far as I know."

"Have you ever been asked, Senator, on behalf of any of the insurance companies, to intervene in their favor, by reason of such contributions?"

"Never in the world."

"In connection with matters of legislation of the insurance departments?"

"Never in the world."

"At all in connection with matters of legislation?"

"They have never asked me in the world."

"And you have never done anything of the kind?"

"I have not," Mr. Platt said.

LARGE SUM FOR FUND.
Mr. Platt said he knew nothing of the contributions by the Mutual and Equitable to the national campaign fund in 1890. He did not remember that there was any co-operation between Cornelius N. Bliss and his conduct of the campaigns of 1900 or 1904. He said he knew nothing about the contributions approximating $50,000 made by the New York Life Insurance Company to the national committee in the last Presidential campaign, and that he did not know that the Equitable Society had given $50,000 during that campaign. The Senator could not remember when he began to receive contributions from insurance companies, but thought it might be fifteen years or more back.

ANOTHER ONE FINED.
W. E. Hall, chauffeur for Charles Butters, was this morning fined $5 by Police Judge Smith on a charge of exceeding the speed limit within the city limits.

FINDS THIEF IN HIS ROOM

AFTER BEING CAPTURED, BURGLAR MANAGES TO ESCAPE.

J. C. Berry, who resides at the Carlton house was awakened from a nap yesterday afternoon by the presence of a stranger in his room. Berry at once suspected that the stranger was a burglar and grappled with him. He compelled the stranger to submit and march him downstairs with the intent of turning the supposed burglar over to the police office. When the bottom of the stairs was reached the alleged thief by a dexterous twist broke Berry's hold, and ran. Berry knows the stranger by "sight" though not by name. He has given a good description to the police.

TELLS STORY OF HOLD-UP

C. H. SMITH SAYS HE WAS STOPPED BY HIGHWAYMAN.

C. H. Smith, reported to the police last night that an attempt had been made the night previous at the corner of Telegraph avenue and Alcatraz avenue to hold him up while he was returning to his home, 645 Alcatraz avenue. The alleged footpad jumped in front of the horse and threw his hands in front of him as if leveling a pistol, but as Smith did not stop the highwayman could do nothing further.

SICKNESS ABOARD SCHOONER KINEO

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—The Merchants' Exchange has received advice from London stating that the schooner Kineo arrived from Manilla for Sydney, Australia, at Brisbane, Australia, for medical assistance. Her crew is reported to be sick with beriberi. One member of her crew has died. The Kineo will be docked and cleaned before proceeding.

WILD BULL MARKET IN COTTON TODAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—There was a wild bull market in cotton following the giving out of the ginner's report. The May option advanced 97 points, or almost a cent a pound, in a few minutes. There was a jump of 30 points between two sales. There was an excited scene on the floor of the Exchange and the brokers fought one another to buy.

DISTRICT JUDGE FOR OREGON STATE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—President Roosevelt has appointed Judge Charles E. Wolverson, Associate Justice of the Oregon Supreme Court, as District Judge of Oregon, in succession to the late Judge Charles B. Bellinger.

It will be recalled that President Roosevelt first tendered the appointment to Judge Cotton, who declined.

EXPERIENCES IN GOLDFIELDS

MILTON C. ISH SPEAKS OF PROSPECTS AND POSSIBILITIES.

Milton C. Ish, son of Mrs. Ish, an employee of the Board of Supervisors at the Hall of Records, is spending a few days in Oakland, having just arrived from Goldfields where he has been since the first discovery of gold there, and speaks entertainingly of Goldfields and its prospects and possibilities. While Mr. Ish is not the proprietor of any great mining properties, a little of the dust in circulation there has stuck to his fingers and he has been enabled to establish himself in a paying general merchandise store and being on the ground, he occasionally gets the news of a big strike in time to give him opportunity to buy up a little stock, which he sells at moderate profit.

In speaking of the country and conditions generally, he says:

"From the present indications Goldfields' prosperity is established. The mines are going into the ground and the gold is being taken out in large quantities. One thing that helps the town greatly is the milling of the ore on the spot. There has been gold taken from the mines, in some of which I have worked, where I have seen gold that nets $100,000, to the ten. I have seen the raw ore sealed in cans and sent out by Wells-Fargo it was so valuable.

"There have been some very substantial buildings put up. One a large office building, built entirely of stone. Rents are high, but everything is the same in proportion. One thing that makes prices high is the fact that the railway is not overlooking anything in the way of charges. It costs me $90 to get a car load of stuff from San Francisco or Sacramento, and one can send such a load clear to New York for less. Naturally that makes produce just so much more."

"However, the people do not seem to object and are very particular. We had a drummer in my store the other day who said people in San Francisco would not grumble at the eggs we were refusing. We ask 75 cents a dozen, but get the very best. They may be a little higher than that just at present. Flour is $3 a sack, potatoes 4 cents a pound. Meat is about 27 cents a pound, and other things in proportion."

"The reports of sickness were greatly exaggerated, they had no foundation, in fact. Of course such a country attracts all classes of people, many of whom take no care of themselves, drink to excess, and if they lie out all night they are apt to contract pneumonia or other diseases that will kill them off in a great hurry. In the fall it freezes every night. It was such characters as these, mostly, that made up the greater part of the deaths, but take the community as a whole the death rate there is less than it is in San Francisco. They have just about sold all the bonds for a new sewer system, and when this is done there can be no objection to the place as far as health goes."

Mr. Ish is here just at present on a business trip and expects to return on Monday.

FAULT OF HORSE, NOT MAN

SO J. W. STOW IS FOUND NOT GUILTY BY POLICE JUDGE.

J. W. Stow, accused of fast driving by Policeman McCready, the "bicycle detective," was found not guilty by Police Judge Samuels, principally on the testimony of the arresting officer.

Slow stated to the Court that the horse he was driving was an old racer, that the animal was difficult to curb, and that at the time when he was arrested by McCready he was doing his utmost to curb the horse, which insisted on racing with the animal owned and being driven by Albert C. Scott.

McCready testified that through the efforts of Slow to check the horse's gait the head of the horse was drawn down against its breast. Judge Samuels discharged the defendant at once on McCready's testimony, wondering why the policeman made an arrest when the driver was plainly trying to obey the law.

SAYS HIS SISTER WAS THRASHED

H. Sparker and Ben Walters, two second-hand dealers on Lower Broadway, who yesterday afternoon entertained a large number of pedestrians with an exhibition of "the man's art," on the sidewalk, were before Police Judge Smith this morning on charges of battery. The men have long been at odds owing to domestic and business troubles. Walters alleges that he was merely trying to protect his sister, who is married to Sparker. According to his story, Sparker had beaten his spouse twice yesterday and it was for that reason he assaulted his brother-in-law.

Judge Smith remarked that if that was the case Sparker only got what he needed. The case will come up for trial tomorrow. Sparker has been in trouble before.

NEW CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

BERKELEY CITIZENS HAVE PARTLY FORMED AN ORGANIZATION.

BERKELEY, Nov. 21.—Eighty citizens of Berkeley last night took part in the organization of the new Chamber of Commerce. A Board of Directors was appointed and the directors' office was located in the business and professional element of the town. Next Tuesday night the directors are to meet and appoint a permanent secretary, a salaried officer, who will give his entire time to advancing the interests of the Chamber of Commerce and Berkeley.

The directors named last night were as follows: S. W. Foss, H. D. Irwin, F. S. Duncan, M. J. H. McGrew, Dr. Lyman Allen, S. L. Naylor, J. J. Remus, Guy Chick, H. J. Squires, John M. For, W. R. Sear, Charles H. Keadler, W. J. Mortimer, Adam Hollier, S. W. Richardson, W. H. Marston, Frances Ferrier, J. N. Stevens, Thomas Hodges, F. S. Bradhoff.

Mr. Foss is to act as temporary chairman of this board. At the meeting last night Edwin Stearns, secretary of the Oakland Board of Trade, made an address, suggesting lines of work for the Chamber of Commerce and promising the hearty support of the Oakland Board of Trade.

AGED MAN IS MISSING

RELATIVES FEAR THAT JOSEPH GRIMES HAS MET WITH INJURY.

Joseph Grimes, a man sixty-three years of age, residing at 1217 Harrison street, is reported to the police as missing. He left his home yesterday to attend the Superior Court and has not been seen since. He was subject to sudden attacks from a long-standing ailment and it is feared that he may have met with injury while suffering from his malady.

SAN FRANCISCO MAN SECURES RAILROAD

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 21.—At a regular meeting of the Council last evening a street railway franchise in the eastern part of the city was bid in for Lloyd S. Ackerman, of San Francisco for $6,000. The line will run from Twenty-fifth and B streets to City Heights. Two other franchises for street railways were sold to E. B. Webster of this city, and another to H. A. Howard. One bid for a fifth franchise was rejected. Extension for one year was granted on the franchise of the San Diego Eastern Railway Company.

RAINFALL ABOUT SAN DIEGO IS LIGHT

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 21.—Forty-one hundredths of an inch of rain fell here during last night and early this morning, making a total of 3.63 inches for the season up to the present time. The rain was preceded by hard winds, reaching a velocity of 26 miles an hour. No damage was done to shipping, as the bay is protected on all sides by land. The temperature fell sharply early in the evening and today is crisp. In the country the rainfall was generally heavier than on the coast. At noon indications point to more rain.

CHINESE ROMANCE AT HAYWARDS

fore the discovery of the glittering metal in this State.

He traveled around a bit, but finally located in Montana, where he accumulated considerable land, which later became valuable through its stores of copper. But its worth was not made known to Chong Yot Yee, and he disposed of his possession at a meager figure and went to Chicago.

Here he resorted to the usual business of the American Chinese to make a living—a Chinese laundry.

MARRIED WHITE WOMAN. And Chong Yot Yee gave close attention to the ways of the "Meican" man, and it was not long before he was paying his respects to a white woman, Martha Jane Bryant. Chong Yot Yee was prospering in business, and likewise in love. It was not long before he proposed, was accepted and made the husband of Martha Jane Bryant.

Most faithful indeed to her Chinese husband was this American-born woman. She became the mother of six children and all were happy.

It was about nine years ago that the family came to San Francisco and there, for eight years, Chong Yot Yee conducted a Chinese laundry.

LOCATED AT HAYWARD. Journeying to Hayward one day for the shirts and collars of one of his customers, he became impressed with the surroundings there, for the blossoming trees and the warm sunshine reminded him of his home far across the sea.

Then Mr. and Mrs. Chong Yot Yee gathered together their worldly belongings and took up residence at Hayward, and there purchased the controlling interest in a laundry.

But here the first real sorrow visited their lives. Their eldest daughter, Gim Yee, or Laura Lee, as she was called, was taken from them by the stern authorities, who said that the Chong Yot Yee household was not a fit place for her occupancy.

The pleadings of the father and the tears of the mother, availed nothing. "The girl must go," said the mission authorities. And so she did.

Legal efforts were put forth by Chong Yot Yee to regain custody of his daughter, but without avail, and from the time that she was taken away from their home the parents have not since seen her.

The father, in his own peculiar Chinese way, said nothing. But when alone with his long stemmed pipe he gave way to grief, and soon wore to a mere shadow. And six weeks after being separated from his daughter he passed away.

Many punks were burned, and little slips of paper, filled with holes for the devil to slip through, were distributed about as all that was mortal of Chong Yot Yee was put beneath the earth, while on the grave there was a fat roasted pig and all the delicacies which, to the Chinese mind, pleased the gods.

AN AMERICAN WIDOW. The American widow and mother assumed charge of affairs and it was learned that Chong Yot Yee, after the custom of his countrymen, had arranged that his eldest son, Yot Yee, was to wed a fair Chinese maid living in far-off China.

Now the young man has never seen his bride-to-be, nor the girl her intended husband, but in real Chinese fashion they have been betrothed by their parents, and the marriage is to take place, for the American mother will continue to carry out the Chinese customs of her late husband, though he be dead.

GOES FOR A BRIDE. And that is why there sailed from San Francisco on the steamer Mongolia last Thursday, Yot Yee and his little sister, Martha Mary Gnon Yee, for the Flowery Kingdom.

Yot Yee goes to claim the bride chosen for him by his father and Martha Jane. Mary Yee accompanies him to keep her brother from lonesomeness on his journey over the seas, and to participate in the ceremony.

Punks are burning and prayers offered at Hayward for the safe arrival of Yot Yee and Mary Yee in the little village of Thin Nee Kee, where the former is to marry upon the face of his sweetheart, and bride-to-be for the first time.

Then, too, punks, smoke and prayers are being laid before the josh in the little Chinese village for Yot Yee and his sister, so that they may arrive without mishap.

And so this Chinese romance is drawing to a close. Soon there will be a clanging of cymbals and the chanting of the priests, the drinking of much tea, and Yot Yee, son of a full-blooded Chinese and American-born woman will be married.

FRUGAL FAMILY. Now the Yee family has been very frugal, and Yot Yee carries with him a snug little fortune to his bride. After marriage they will settle down in the home their relatives picked out for them and live according to the customs of their fathers.

Meanwhile Mrs. Martha Jane Yee will direct the affairs of the laundry in Hayward, continue to bring out shirts and collars spotless as snow, and day-dream of her Chinese son and daughter across the sea.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY. C. H. Laswell was arraigned before Police Judge Smith this morning on a charge of battery preferred by his wife, Mrs. Belle Laswell. The husband was arrested by Policeman McSorley at the instance of the wife. He pleaded not guilty this morning and demanded a jury trial, which was set down for November 24.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—With the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, the Vice-President and Mrs. Fairbanks, the Ambassadors from Great Britain, France, Russia and Brazil, and the members of the cabinet as witnesses, Miss Anne Hitchcock, daughter of Secretary Hitchcock, and Lieut. Commander William S. Sims, U. S. N., were married at noon today in St. John's Church. The church was crowded with friends of the bride couple.

After the ceremony, the bride party, the President and Vice-President, the Ambassadors and a few friends and relatives were invited to the residence of Secretary and Mrs. Hitchcock to a wedding breakfast.

Right Rev. Henry Y. Satterlee, Bishop of Washington, and Rev. Roland Cotton Smith, rector of St. John's Church of this city, officiated.

The session of the cabinet scheduled for today was omitted in order that the members might attend the wedding.

OAKLAND INSTITUTION.

The people of Oakland are taking a deep interest in the State Medical Institute Sanitarium, and it is expected that this institution to have such loyal support from the home people.

The proprietor and manager has spared no expense in making this Sanitarium the most perfectly equipped and scientific medical institution in the West, combining medicine, surgery, electricity, massage with every convenience that is known in a new up-to-date and modern medical institution for the successful treatment and curing of diseases of both men, women and children.

When necessary, and not until necessary, we are well prepared to perform any and all kinds of surgical operations, both minor and capital, either at the Sanitarium or at the patient's home.

We have employed as one of the physicians and surgeons of this Sanitarium an eminent specialist, who is a graduate of a prominent German university, and who will give special attention to the treatment of diseases of the eye, ear, nose, throat, chest and lungs.

It is a pleasure to the manager of this institution to have Oakland people visit the Sanitarium, and all strangers and tourists and especially those who are visiting this coast in search of health are cordially invited to come, and we will give them a careful medical examination with advice and instructions for improvement of their health without charge.

The doctors of the State Medical Institute treat all kinds of chronic ailments of men, women and children and diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose, Throat and Lungs, Stomach, Liver, Heart, Kidneys, Bladder, Brain, Catarrh, Asthma, Rheumatism, Bronchitis, Headache, Stomachitis, Nervousness, Deafness, Chills and Malaria, Skin Diseases, Lupus, Eczema, Scrofula, Neuritis, Paralysis, Diabetes, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Dropsy, Hemorrhoids, Rectal Troubles, and all forms of sores, Blood and Wasting Diseases.

All private and wasting diseases promptly cured and their effects permanently eradicated from the system. Diseases of women and children given special attention.

Nervous diseases and nervous prostration made a specialty.

Eczema, blood and skin diseases promptly cured.

Consultation either at the Institute, at the patient's home, or by mail free.

FRIGHTENS WOMAN BY HIS REMARKS

Lem Lawrence, a colored youth, who is very idle in appearance and actions and who is supposed to have made of his fensive remarks to Miss Fay Waicott yesterday afternoon, frightening her badly, was arrested by Policeman Fahy this morning on a charge of vagrancy. He pleaded guilty this morning and was sentenced to four months' imprisonment by Police Judge Smith. He stated to the arresting officer that he would not work. It is thought that Lawrence's mind is disordered and it is probable that he will be examined by the lunacy commission.

OAKLAND COMPARED WITH EASTERN CITIES

Ex-Councilman Brosnahan Tells What She Lacks and How She Could Easily Secure It.

Ex-Councilman C. H. Brosnahan, after an absence of six weeks in the East, during which time he visited a number of the most important cities of that section and at the same time had the pleasure of revisiting the place of his birth, Brattleboro, Vermont, has returned with his wife, who accompanied him on the trip, and is still proud that Oakland is his home. Both Mr. and Mrs. Brosnahan are in excellent health and spirits, and while they have enjoyed themselves while away are yet glad to be at home among their acquaintances and friends.

TELLS OF HIS TRIP.
Mr. Brosnahan, in speaking of his trip in the East to a TRIBUNE reporter, was both reminiscent and practical and among other things said:

"Twenty-eight years ago last Decoration Day I left the East for California. I have resided in Oakland for the past twenty-seven years.

"During the past season I concluded to visit the home of my boyhood, Brattleboro, Vt., and my relatives who are still residing there and in that vicinity. I will say that my trip was one of extreme pleasure.

RELATIVES AT OLD HOME.
"I found my sister and family, as also a score of cousins and friends enjoying a fair share of the world's goods and in a state of contentment and happiness. I was right royally entertained, in fact to a degree which was far beyond any expectations which I may have entertained before my departure for the East, and I shall anxiously look forward to the time when I may be in a position to again take the same trip.

FORGOT BUSINESS CARES.
"Upon my departure from the Sixteenth street depot in this city I left whatever business cares I had in the hands of others and gave them no further thought until my return home six weeks later.

HOME CITY AND OTHERS.
"When a man has resided for over a quarter of a century in one city, and has there passed many of the best years of his life and when, in that city his personal and business affairs are largely centered and when also he there expects to pass his remaining years, it is but natural for him to compare the advantages and disadvantages of that city, that home place, with other cities which he may visit while away from home.

FAVORABLE TO OAKLAND.
"I must say that the comparison which I instituted is decidedly favorable to Oakland. I must say that in the matter of dry goods, gentlemen's furnishings and hardware stores those of this city are equal to and, in many instances, are superior to those which I found in cities double the size of Oakland.

SUPERIOR NEWSPAPERS.
"Oakland's streets will compare favorably with the streets of other cities I have visited. Her street car service is far superior to that of any surface street car system in any city of Oakland's class. Her newspapers are superior to those of cities of the same size as Oakland. THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE is equal to any daily newspaper I have seen or read, excepting, of course, the dailies of the great cities.

AS TO MANUFACTURES.
"I will now state where, in my opinion, Oakland is down and out completely, and that is in the manufacturing interests. Manufactures are the main hub in the wheel that goes to make up a great city. I believe Oakland's future prosperity depends on manufactures. No city without manufactures is anything more than a bed chamber. The question is: How can manufactures be secured for this city? My view would be to have a businessmen's organization go after them or have the Board of Trade and Merchants' Exchange unite for this one purpose. I think, also, that the city should act in conjunction with those bodies and the railroads, so far at least as the law will permit, as all those interests should be in common.

BUY THE MARSH.
"The marsh land should be bought and graded and the same should be filled. It should then be sold to the projectors of bona fide manufacturers at a normal figure.

"It is an undeniable fact that seventy-five per cent of the great manufacturing cities are cities that work in harmony with the railroads.

OAKLAND'S ADVANTAGES.
"In my six weeks' travel I have not seen a city that has the great advantages that Oakland has with railroad and navigation facilities and land suitable for manufacturing purposes at a low figure.

OIL FUEL.
"It has been said that Oakland could not compete with the Eastern manufacturers because steam coal costs more here than in the East.

"But that obstacle has been removed by the coming of oil fuel and electric power, both of which are now established in Oakland.

WORKING IN HARMONY.
"If some method could be devised to cement all interests and to work in harmony Oakland, instead of being a spectator of the procession of other cities climbing the ladder of manufactures and industries, would herself in a few years mount to the top round of the ladder as the home of manufactures and industrial enterprises.

AN INSPIRING SIGHT.
"It is a beautiful sight to witness the human army of mechanics entering and departing from the large manufacturing of the East morning and evening.

POLITICAL STRIFE.
"I was in New York prior to and on the day after the late election. It was a great political battle.

"The issues were thoroughly threshed out. The machinery appeared to be in excellent condition, with plenty of lubricating oil left on both sides at the finish.

"You must not lose sight of the fact that it was a three-cornered fight with all opposing political artillery giving direct fire to Tammany. Whatever opinion a man may have of Tammany, it must be given credit for being the most thoroughly organized political organization in this country."

HENRY KIRK TELLS OF NEW YORK

Eastern Playwriter Returns After an Absence of Three Years in the East.

Henry Kirk, the young Oakland playwriter, has returned from a three-year campaign in New York City. To a TRIBUNE reporter Mr. Kirk had some interesting things to say.

"There is no place like New York," he began. "Now, don't misunderstand me, there is no place like California, but Manhattan is certainly the center for a whole lot of things you won't find in Oakland. But then there are a whole lot of things in Oakland just now you won't find in New York. There are no roses nor hellebore, no magnolias, nor palms nor acacias running wild in Central Park, and the air in little old Manhattan is a long way from the delightful degree in dear growing Oakland. And I can see how Oakland is growing. The first thing I saw was the Key Route train, and the sky-scraper at Thirteenth street is certainly a dandy, and then there's the new TRIBUNE building and a whole lot of other things."

"Can't you suggest some of the other things, Mr. Kirk, that are attracting your metropolitan attention? Be a little more definite, you know." "Now, for heaven's sake," Mr. Kirk interrupted, "don't make me a New Yorker. I'm not. I never was. In all the time I was away I never forgot my own country, nor that I was proud and happy in being a Californian. And I've been in a good many different places in the past three years from one ocean to another, from the Gulf to the great lakes, and as far as Quebec, and now that I'm home again I know there's no place like California."

"Why do you know I stood in the vestibule of the car the other night while we were crossing the Colorado river and when we reached the other side I thanked the gods, Hermes and all the rest, for bringing me back to my own country."

"How about the theatrical situation in New York?"

"Well, I don't think they're having a too joyous time. A few plays are making good, 'Man and Superman,' 'The Walls of Jericho,' Margaret Anglin in 'Zire,' then 'Her Great Match' with Maxine Elliott is having a good run at the Criterion. 'The Earl and the Girl' at the Casino is a hit, but 'Peter Pan,' the Barrie play, is a success only for Maude Adams. The great trouble seems to be a lack of notable plays. Just why this is I don't know. I really don't believe managers, as a rule, pay much attention to unknown quantities. They'll cry for the untried, but with a new manuscript in their hands, literally in their drawer, they'll look longingly at Fitch, or Thomas, or Barrie."

"But the American playwriter has been coming to the front of late, there are half a dozen who have made hits in the last year."

"That's very true, but it isn't on account of the managers, it's in spite of them. The American playwriter is a quantity that is forcing itself upon the theater in the face of discouragement. The New York manager will disclaim this discouragement, that is the average manager, but I, as a playwriter, who has been running about like a lost soul for almost three years, know it to be a fact. They'll say they're glad to see you, have been looking for you, and all that, the long-desired, and so on, but that's about all, and your play will lie flatly in their cabinet, or wherever they keep them, to the judgment day if you don't call for it sooner. All the managers aren't this way, but enough of them to make the condition up to about now almost prevalent. But at last they're turning to us, and we certainly are their hope now. It's up to us to make good."

"But, you don't know how glad I am to be home again where things really grow and the whole earth doesn't die. All the trees in New York are dead, and the earth is dead and you'd think a green thing never happened anywhere. I want to get out on a ranch and ride a hundred miles without stopping. But there's Fifth avenue behind me, the shops with the tapestries and the bronzes, the big hotels and the clubs, the life and the living. I feel like Kipling's soldier in 'The Road to Mandalay,'—yes, it's living there—here, it's mostly dreaming, for me I mean."

"How about yourself in the play line?"

"Well, I have had the usual knocks, orthodox ups and downs, but I kept at it. I came near it several times, then saw it all fade away. Oh, it's a trying life, a struggle, but then I suppose everything is. We all have to work if we want anything. However, the week before I left New York I placed my last play with a rather well-known woman, name only in five feet on the bill boards, you know, and I promptly packed up my things and am home to make the necessary alteration. Do you know, I wish we had more shade trees in Oakland, the dinkiest town in the East is a perfect bower."

"But the roots destroy!"

"My dear fellow, they have side-walks there and all the necessary underground things, and they seem intact enough. But you can bet there is no place like California. Why, I've gone all over it from Shasta to San Diego, and I know whereof I speak, and I know the East pretty well, the Adirondacks, Long Island, the Berkshires, Tuxedo, but none of them can compare to our Sierras, nor even the Santa Cruz mountains. So don't forget my country is first in my heart even though I'm going out of it pretty soon for a while, back to—oh, well, I guess just New York will do."

LABOR UNION MATTERS

CENTRAL LABOR COUNCIL HOLDS MEETING—VARIOUS NOTES.

At the meeting of the Central Labor Council James Jenkins was seated as a delegate from a subordinate union in place of Delegate R. H. H. Myers was also seated as delegate from Electrical Workers' Union, No. 232, vice J. E. Barton.

STREET CAR LOCKOUT.

A communication was received from the thirty street car employees of Paducah, Ky., who were recently locked out by the management from their service because of their membership in the union; that being given as the reason by the management. The president of the operating company, and said to be the only one in it who desires to take this course, is Joseph L. Friedman, who is also the leading member of the whiskey distilling firm of Friedman, Keller & Co. The Mayor and Common Council and leading business men of Paducah have endeavored to settle the difficulty in the interest of the city, but have failed. The men made no demands of any kind upon the operating company and say they are asking only for the right to work unmolested by the company's Union. Their stand is endorsed by the proper representative and superior labor body, the Associated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America. The operators of the railroad deny even the right of the open shop, and want an absolutely non-union operating force.

AN APPEAL REFERRED.
A printed appeal for money to individual union men on the ground of sickness and the pressure of a mortgage, made in an individual way by O. J. Reber of Fresno, and not endorsed by any labor body, was referred back to Mr. Reber with the information that it would be considered when reforwarded with the endorsement of the Central Labor Council or Federation of Fresno.

DELEGATE ELECTION.
Delegates from the Central Labor Council to the State Federation of Labor will be elected December 1.

NEW YORK CITY STRUCTURAL.
Structural workers generally are asking from 50 cents to $1 a day advance in wages in New York City, which the employers so far, concerned are stubbornly resisting. The 300 employees of Post & Meridian structural iron workers, have struck. There is an arbitration board, composed equally of employers and workmen, which is in line to consider the matter.

PRINTERS.
The Typographical Union continues to give victories in San Francisco. The Injunction suits begun at the instance of the Citizens' Alliance, and in which its attorneys appeared for the plaintiffs, the names and on behalf of the Deitman-Wilson Press, Commercial Publishing Company and Rayot, Upham & Co., have all been dismissed on motion of plaintiffs' attorneys, and it seems as though a general policy of abandonment of such suits had been adopted by the Citizens' Alliance law department.

CARMEN.
The Carmen's Union of San Francisco has renominated President Cornelius P. M. Benknap for vice-president and J. H. Bowling for secretary-treasurer.

MURPHY'S BROTHER TO GO ON STAND

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The Grand Jury, which is investigating election frauds, today subpoenaed John J. Murphy, brother of Charles F. Murphy, the leader of Tammany Hall, and James E. Gaffney, alderman from the Eighteenth Assembly district, in which Charles F. Murphy lives. John J. Murphy is a partner in the New York Contracting Company, and the wife of James E. Gaffney is said to be a partner in the same company. Both Murphy and Gaffney said they did not know why they had been subpoenaed.

ON A STRIKE.
ST. JOHN, N. B., Nov. 21.—The St. John ship laborers are on strike for 35 cents an hour. The Allan liner Parisian, which docked last night with a large cargo from Liverpool, was unable to discharge.

ELECTED PRESIDENT.
RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 21.—Stockholders of the Atlantic Coast Line today elected T. M. Emerson of Wilmington, N. C., President. Vice R. T. Erwin, resigned.

RAILROAD RATES DISCUSSED

SENATE COMMITTEE ON INTERSTATE COMMERCE IN SESSION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce will meet today to begin the consideration of legislation relating to regulation of railway rates. All of the members of the committee will not be present, as some have been detained by ill health or business engagements. The meeting of the committee two weeks in advance of the assembling of Congress is to consider the testimony taken last spring and also the additional data which has been gathered by experts since the commission ceased its hearings.

It is well known that the committee is divided on the main question involved, that of conferring upon the Interstate Commerce Commission power to order a change of railroad rates, but no attempt has been made to poll the committee to determine what kind of a bill will be reported. It seems quite likely that several different measures will be presented, as it is known that drafts of bills have been prepared.

Herb W. Edwards injured.
Herb W. Edwards of Des Moines, Iowa, got a fall on an icy walk last winter, spraining his wrist and bruising his knee. "The best day," he says, "they were so sore and stiff, I was afraid I would have to stay in bed, but I rubbed them well with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications all soreness had disappeared. I feel that this bottle of Pain Balm saved me several days time, to say nothing of the suffering." This balm is for sale by Oggood Bros., corner Twelfth and Washington streets and corner Seventh and Broadway.

FEDERATION OF LABOR CONVENTION

PITTSBURG, Nov. 21.—At the morning session of the American Federation of Labor, Frank K. Foster of Boston, secretary of the committee on President Gompers' report, read a supplementary report. The matter of the eight-hour day for the union printers was endorsed, and the executive council in giving the printers moral aid and financial support, was commended. The council was instructed to continue their aid to the printers, if it is necessary after January 1, 1906. The committee reported that the eight-hour day for printers is in force in 267 cities and towns in this country and Canada. An assessment of 4 cents a member was ordered by the Federation to aid the printers in their contest.

This assessment is expected to yield about $50,000.

The 30-cent assessment made by the International Typographical Union has been endorsed by that body by a vote of 25,948 to 6331.

DRIFTS HELPLESSLY FOR FOUR DAYS

VIGO, Spain, November 21.—The Spanish steamer Octubre, from Marseilles, bound to Rotterdam, had a thrilling experience during the recent storms. Seas dashed over the vessel, her machinery broke down, and she drifted helplessly for four days. When hope had been abandoned the Octubre was sighted by the British steamer Almagro, which rescued the crew, numbering twenty-five men.

The coast in this vicinity is strewn with wreckage.

TO SELL LAND.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Marquis of Downshire has agreed to sell his agricultural lands in County Down, Ireland, to the tenants. The estate is the largest in Ireland, and is valued at about $15,000,000.

THE LATEST NEWS OF THE DAY--4:30 P. M.

DALTON WINS HIS FIREMAN SUIT DROWNS AT POST

Assessor Was Entitled to Collect Fees—Supreme Court Decides in His Favor.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—The Supreme Court this afternoon decided in favor of Assessor Dalton the appeal in the case entitled "County of Alameda vs. Henry P. Dalton" to recover fifteen per cent of the poll tax which he had collected and retained as his commission for the collection of the same.

This decision practically settles Mr. Dalton's claims against the county in several cases which are now pending. The only case to which this decision does not have reference is the one for making the duplicate assessment roll for the City of Oakland. This only involves a small amount of money.

The case just decided was originally taken up by Fitzgerald & Abbott and continued by them through the Supreme Court. It is a great victory for these attorneys, as they have fought the issue against great odds.

The decision of the Supreme Court will also release Mr. Dalton's salary, which has been tied up for two or three years on account of this suit. During the last couple of years Mr. Dalton has paid the poll tax into the county treasury under protest. He will now be entitled to this money and to all his salary and to all fees that have been in dispute, and which he claims he is justly entitled to receive.

By reason of the various suits Mr. Dalton's accumulated salary, amounting to about $30,000, has been tied up.

PLATT IN FAVOR OF CONTRIBUTIONS

Says Insurance Companies Are Justified in Giving Campaign Money.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Late this afternoon at the insurance investigation, Senator Platt, while on the witness stand, expressed the opinion that life insurance companies were justified in making campaign contributions while the gold issue was at stake. He did not care to pass upon the justification of the companies in giving money for State campaigns.

"What advantage could they get by contributing?" asked Mr. Hughes. "They go through me as being connected with the State committee. They would suppose I would be likely to connect them at times when it was necessary. I never had occasion to do it. Have they ever requested your support on any matter?"

"They never have." "I understand you to say they would expect you would support or defend them. Now, what class of possibilities led you in mind in saying that? Do you see that the Legislature did not enact legislation which they thought hostile to policy holders?"

"That is about what it would amount to."

"How could you control the situation?" "How could you not control it?" "How could you in any way influence it?"

"I might have some influence." "Through the disposition of the money in the election of legislators?" "Oh, I could not say that."

"Is not the way it really comes about, Senator, that the use of these contributions in the election of candidates to office puts the candidates more or less under moral obligation not to attack the interest supporting them?" "That is what naturally would be in-

"Isn't that really what is involved?" "I should think so." "When Senator Platt had finished his testimony Mr. Conans was recalled and completed his testimony, which was relatively unimportant."

Gage E. Tarbell, second vice-president of the Equitable, was on the stand when recess was taken.

SHE RAN AWAY WITH A MINISTER
William Nelson Benedict was this afternoon granted a final decree of divorce from his wife, Mrs. A. D. Me. She had been despondent for some time.

SET FOR TRIAL
Peter Beck, accused of battery on the persons of J. B. Prentice and Al. H. Gibson, two employees of the railroad shops, was arraigned before Police Judge Samuel this morning, and his trial set for next Tuesday. Beck and a youth said to be Dennis Knowland, are alleged to have laid in wait for the two railroad men and to have beaten them unmercifully. A gang of men watched the proceedings. The victims, Gibson and Prentice, state that they never saw their assailants before and have no idea why they were assaulted.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Secretary Wilson today appointed Dr. A. D. Mc-rina of Illinois as the Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry to succeed Dr. Salmon, who resigned some time ago.

Santa Fe Locomotive Plunges Into Forty Feet of Water

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—A Santa Fe freight locomotive went through Wharf No. 1, at Redondo, at about 2 o'clock this afternoon, about a hundred feet from shore, and is buried in forty feet of water. Fireman E. C. Banks was carried to the bottom with the engine. The engineer escaped by jumping. A Mrs. Goodrich who was fishing on the wharf went down with the Santa Fe and was rescued unharmed.

It is thought that yesterday's storm had weakened the piling under the wharf, which is the one upon which the Santa Fe runs out all its freight to the boats loading and unloading at Redondo. The crash came unexpectedly.

An effort is being made to raise the engine in order to recover the body of Fireman Banks.

PLURAL MARRIAGE A FAILURE

President Smith of Mormon Church Refuses His Sanction.

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 21.—The arrest here of E. H. Conger and Pearl Guerr of Utah brings out the fact that President Smith of the Mormon Church absolutely refuses to sanction plural marriages any more.

Conger declares that he fell in love with Miss Guerr in Utah and, although married, his wife agreed he could also marry Miss Guerr.

Being refused a license in Mexico, he expecting to marry there, send for his first wife and make a home here with both.

He says President Smith was visiting the colonies and absolutely refused to permit the marriage and the couple started back home, and arriving here, were arrested, Conger being charged with abduction of the girl. Conger says both have been expelled from the church by President Smith.

SCHOOL TEACHER TESTIFIES

Mrs. Van Duyn on Stand in Will Contest Case.

Mrs. Van Duyn, a teacher in the Grant school was witness in the will contest now being waged over the last testament of the late August Mangin Sr. and was refreshing in her clear cut answers to questions, contrasting strongly to the usual run of witnesses who take the stand.

She afforded some diversion to court spectators and attorneys by some of her ideas in regard to courts and legal processes which found a response in many of those who are not versed in legal ethics.

It transpired that Mrs. Van Duyn had become acquainted with the Mangin family by reason of the fact that Eugene Mangin, the younger son, who is present in the case, was a pupil of hers. She stated that she used to keep a roll of honor and that out of a large class Eugene happened to be one of four or five pupils that succeeded in being placed on it. This pleased the father so much that he sent word to her that he would like to see her and which afterwards resulted in many visits between them.

One of the distinctions made by Mrs. Van Duyn in her testimony which rather amused Judge Ogden was when he allowed her to answer the question of whether she believed Mangin was sane or insane. She began to answer that she had been impressed by the man's deep and abiding melancholy and was cut off by the judge.

She insisted in her answering the question by yes or no.

Asked to change the question as to conform to the statute and asked her if she thought Mangin was sane or insane. She said she would sooner answer this question and said she thought Mangin was sane.

CLUNIE WILL GO ON STAND

Will go to New York in Order to Give His Testimony.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Andrew J. Clunie, former insurance commissioner of this State, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the insurance investigation in New York, having expressed a desire to go East and give his testimony, today received a dispatch from Attorney Charles E. Hughes stating that he would be given an opportunity to testify any time before December 20.

Mr. Clunie said this afternoon: "The telegram from Mr. Hughes has just come to hand and I have not had time to map out my plans. However, I intend to arrange my affairs so that I can get away and go to New York soon. That is as far as I can foresee."

DISTRICT COURT OF APPEALS

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—The District Court of Appeals for the Third Appellate District today handed down a decision reversing the order of the Superior Court denying a new trial in the case of The People, plaintiffs and respondents, against John Solari, defendant and appellant, on appeal from Sonoma County. Solari was convicted of manslaughter in the killing of John Guidotti.

The Appellate Court in another decision affirms the judgment of the Superior Court of Placer County in the case of the County of Placer against W. A. Freeman, a member of the Board of Supervisors. There was a question as to the merit of Freeman's claims which was originally for $150, and the case was taken to court. In court Freeman consented to striking out of his claim enough money to bring it within the $300 limit. On a judgment Freeman appealed, but the Appellate Court held that Freeman was in error and represented by counsel, and consenting to the striking out, is bound by the judgment of the Superior Court, which is affirmed.

SENATOR PLACED ON TRIAL

SECOND DAY'S SESSION OF THE BURTON EXAMINATION.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 21.—United States District Attorney Dyer continued reading to the jury literature issued by the defendant, Blaine G. Burton, and Securities Company when the United States Circuit Court opened today for the second session of the trial of United States Senator Joseph R. Burton of Kansas, indicted on charges of having agreed to accept and having accepted compensation from the Rialto Company for using his influence while a member of the United States Senate in certain matters pending before the Postoffice Department at Washington.

The pamphlets contain several thousand words and have no bearing on the case on trial. They are enclosed in letters addressed to the jury by the government, but were overruled by Judge Vandewater, and then insisted that not only the letters, but the enclosures also, be read to the jury.

Colonel Dyer interrupted his reading to introduce D. M. Ramsdell, sergeant-at-law of the United States Senate, who Colonel Dyer said, had important official business in Washington, and that he wished to allow Mr. Ramsdell to return as soon as possible.

Mr. Ramsdell was present under a subpoena duces tecum requiring him to produce certain telegrams. These were identified by the witness and it was admitted by the defense that they had been sent by Senator Burton to the persons named in the dispatches. They were not read in evidence at this time, being reserved until their proper place in the trial. Mr. Ramsdell was then excused.

BOY BUILDS STEREOPTICON.

The people of Oakland will have an opportunity on Tuesday evening of this week of witnessing the operation of a stereopticon just completed by a sixteen-year-old youth, Richard L. Martin, of the Twentieth street. On this occasion the instrument, which is said to be a decided improvement over the average stereopticon used at public entertainments, will be used at an entertainment to be given at the First M. E. Church by the young man and Miss Pearl Martin, his sister.

On the occasion of the introduction of this machine to public use there will be shown sixty views of the Yosemite valley, including several taken by Professor Burkhalter of Chabot Observatory, one of which shows trees over a mile in the distance. The views are taken by a power which Mr. Martin has obtained in this machine, which he has constructed along with independent line of adopted film on the trees are shown clearly on the canvas. There will also be shown thirty views of Oakland, furnished by Mr. Martin, and a number of moving pictures. Immediately following the showing of the Yosemite views, Mrs. Martin, the brother of the inventor, will give a talk on the wonders of the Yosemite valley.

In addition to the stereopticon part of the entertainment, a program of much merit has been arranged, including recitations, songs, and a play. The play, which will be given during the showing of the moving pictures, is a male quartet will sing, "Ernest, we will give you a good one," a solo and Edger Thompson will recite.

The church will be appropriately decorated for the occasion. The admission will be free. A collection will be taken, and the proceeds will be used for the payment of their subscription towards the building of the church.

GROVE L. JOHNSON IS VERY ILL

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—Grove L. Johnson, the lawyer, is in a precarious condition from hemorrhage and last night he was surrounded by his family, who fear the end is near. A physician is in constant attendance.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr. Johnson was attacked with a severe hemorrhage. This was followed by other like hemorrhages, and the result was the attacks that his son, Albert M. Johnson of San Francisco, who has been here on legal business, wired his brother, Hiram Johnson, also of that city, to come at once, and take last night he arrived.

Yesterday forenoon Mr. Johnson took part in the Buckman will contest and in the afternoon he was at his office for a time.

Since the death of his wife Mr. Johnson has not been a well man. After the Emmerson trial he complained of being ill and left town to recuperate. Mr. Johnson is considered wealthy. He is sixty-five years old.

LARGE MORTGAGE.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 21.—A $5,000,000 mortgage given to the Union Trust Company to secure a bond issue has been filed with the County Clerk by the San Francisco Oakland and San Jose Railroad Company. This mortgage is a duplicate of that filed in Alameda county. The mortgage covers the right of way and property of the company. It is believed that the company will use the money thus raised to build its proposed line from Oakland to San Jose.

CONDEMN OUTRAGES.

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—The Boston Board of Aldermen last night adopted resolutions condemning the recent outrages upon Jews in Russia. The board voted to ask President Roosevelt to take some action in the matter.

WORKING FOR THE COUNTY

MRS. L. P. CRANE IS GIVING LECTURES IN SAN FRANCISCO.

A new era of advertising has come to Alameda county. The California Promotion Committee is working in connection with public-spirited men of Oakland to advertise the county in its fullest sense, and Mrs. L. P. Crane, wife of Colonel Crane, the commissioned custodian of the Alameda county exhibit at Portland, is delivering a lecture on Alameda county every afternoon at the Academy of Science Hall, San Francisco, in which she brings out salient points of interest, not only to those who live in this vicinity, but especially those from the East and Europe, who, as a result of the exhibition at the World's Fair, are coming down upon the Coast like a wolf upon the fold, bringing brains and money.

Mrs. Crane presented some features which brought great applause in her lecture yesterday, which, in substance, portrayed the two great transcontinental commercial arteries of commerce, the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe railroads, which terminate in Oakland and connect with steamships for all parts of the civilized world.

The exhibition at Portland taught the average thinker that modern science and energy was bringing up a new era which, in the near future, would make the Pacific coast a rival of the Atlantic for the commerce of the world, with supreme control of that with the Asiatic nations, they realize that the modernizing of 400,000 Chinese which is going on by all trading nations of the world and with Japan, which is becoming a brilliant star of the Orient as consumers of American products, that the factory interests of the Coast, with the way of keeping with the East in the manufacture of all the staples required, not only for the Coast, but for millions of the Orient. These facts were so vividly portrayed in the lectures on Alameda county that hundreds of thousands of visitors to the fair from the East voluntarily exclaimed, "We are going to Oakland." We readily see that the natural facilities must ultimately make it the great commercial center of the Pacific Coast. And they said, "We are going to Oakland." The only reply that could be made was, "A lack of harmony on the part of business men."

U. S. POSTOFFICE ESTIMATES

SHOW A REDUCTION OF EXPENSES—NEW PLANS MADE.

WASHINGTON, November 21.—Postmaster-General Cortelyou recently completed and forwarded to the Secretary of the Treasury the estimates for the Postoffice Department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907. They show a reduction of expenses wherever it is believed it will not impair the service, but provide for the maintenance of the rural delivery service and its proper extension over $23,000,000 will be required. This is an increase of $3,000,000 over the appropriation for the current year, which in turn is over $5,000,000 more than that of last year, so that the present estimate is $1,400,000 less than the increase of the present over the preceding year.

That the extension of the pneumatic tube service is contemplated is shown by the fact that the estimate carries $322,000 more than the current appropriation. The deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906, was $1,572,584.

"This amount the difference between the expenditures and the revenue of the department," it is officially announced, "may be said to represent the actual cost of the postal service to the people."

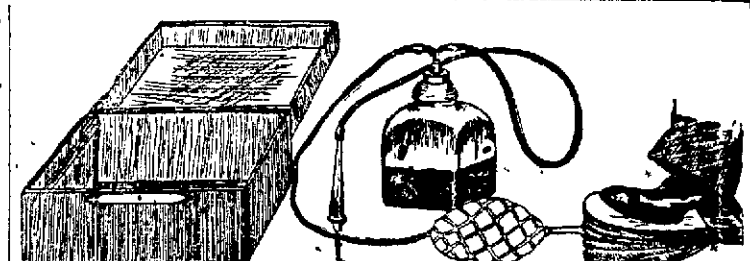

As they have been frequently in the past, they afford good reason for believing that the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906, will be considerably less. It is an interesting fact that the total revenue for the fiscal year 1906, which was $1,500,000,000, was nearly $500,000,000.

MRS. WHITTELL IS UNDER THE KNIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, November 21.—Mrs. George Whittell Jr., wife of the young millionaire, whose life has been punctuated with notable events, lies critically ill at the Adler Sanatorium as the result of a capital operation performed last Saturday morning. For three weeks she had lain at the Alameda home of the Whittell family under the care of two trained nurses and two physicians until her condition became so critical that an operation was imperative and removal was made to the sanatorium. vide for development of postal facilities to meet the growing needs of all sections of the country.

The estimates for the postal service at large—the fiscal service—aggregate $182,000,000, an increase over last year's appropriation of about $27,000,000. This increase represents the normal growth of the service based upon what the postal authorities regard as the most conservative estimates. Each succeeding year sees a large increase in the business of the department. The principal items in the increase are the rural delivery service, railway mail service, compensation to postmasters and their clerks and the compensation of letter carriers.

MANY PEOPLE HEAR NOTED LECTURER

Over a thousand people of all denominations were present at St. Mark's Church to hear Professor Moulton of the University of Chicago, who began his month's work in California by delivering a lecture on a literary interpretation of St. John's Revelation.

The speaker handled the subject in a most masterful and dramatic manner, holding the vast congregation spellbound for more than an hour. He spoke entirely without notes. His full quotations from vision after vision, his clear explanations of the different sections and their relations to each other showed that he had not only read, marked and learned, but had also inwardly digested his subject.

Professor Moulton is a man of commanding stature, dignified carriage, forceful gestures and clear articulation. A voice of extraordinary depth and range under full control makes him an ideal lecturer on a subject which demands such a variety of expression as the dramas, the orations and the lyric poetry of the Hebrew literature.

Last night the church was again filled to the doors, the subject being "The Literary Study of the Bible as Distinct from Theology and Criticism." He showed how necessary this method was to proper conclusions from the two contrasted standpoints the song of Deborah and Barak was used as an illustration. The telling a selection from the book of Job he explained how even the devout reader might be led into much perplexity by reading isolated chapters of that great book unless he had some conception of its literary structure. He would be trying to apply to his own soul as words of God, but those of another people, in the drama, whom God a little further on repudiated.

Finally he spoke particularly to those who had no interest in the Bible as a sacred volume, declaring that there were two great branches of literature, the Hellenic and the Hebrew, that there was a time when a knowledge of the Greek classics was not sufficient, but the Hebrew must go hand in hand with it. The two make a complete whole. So in the past centuries in England, the classics were not only read but the whole mind was saturated with the Hebrew Scriptures. This latter development was most marked in the time of the Puritans, when nearly every child was given a Biblical name. But now the Hebrew storehouse was being neglected and the classic only required with the result that our education is one-sided and incomplete. He found that the effort of Burke thrust at the policy of California in excluding the Bible from the curriculum of the public schools.

He said that soon after beginning this particular line of work he gave three whole evenings to reading and comparing the three masterpieces of oratory in all literature. The first evening he read and Edmund Burke's speech on "American Taxation" and the third, Moses' orations recorded in Deuteronomy, and he found that neither the effort of Burke nor that of Demosthenes began to compare in grandeur or power with that of Moses.

He said his subject will be "The Bible as a Story Book," tomorrow night, "The Book of Job," and on Thursday he begins a course of four lectures at St. Paul's Oakland.

PLAYS COMING TO THE MACDONOUGH

"On the Bridge at Midnight," Klumt and Gazzolo's famous scenic drama, for which the scenery alone cost $10,000, will soon be seen here. "On the Bridge at Midnight" is not a sensational melodrama, but a genuine comedy-drama. It is refreshingly free from the cut-and-dried devices of ordinary plays and its scenic and dramatic effects are unrivaled. The reproduction of a famous jack-knife bridge in Chicago is what gives the play its title, and the wonderful operation of this masterpiece of engineering is reproduced with thrilling accuracy.

The huge alive open and a vessel passes through the play like sunbeams and shadow on a showery day until the devotion of the blind mother is finally rewarded, and the part of Reddy, the mischievous urchin and loachard, is particularly mirth-provoking. There are many other interesting characters.

There will be two performances of "On the Bridge at Midnight," Thursday and Friday, November 23 and 24. Seats now on sale.

POLLY PRIMROSE.

When Polly Primrose comes to the Macdonough Theater on November 25 and 26 it is doubly assured of the same large and enthusiastic houses that it has when commencing elsewhere. Its war atmosphere is calculated to please the martial spirit that is abroad in the country, while the love romance that runs through it appeals to the sentiment of the playgoer of every class. Miss Corot Arden, who is to play the principal part, has won the praise of the critics wherever she has appeared, and her supporting company could not have been better selected. It is pronounced everywhere to be a beautiful play splendidly staged and performed. There will be a bargain matinee Sunday. Seats now on sale.

Stand by the Town

Under the caption, "Let Us Be Loyal to Sacramento," the Sacramento Union preaches a sermon on the obligation resting upon Sacramentans to patronize home industries. The Union directs its remarks principally to the holiday trade, which promises to be large this year, saying: "Within the next forty days Sacramento will spend not less than a quarter of a million dollars in holiday presents. In the spirit of loyalty to our home city, in business discussion, and in common sense, this money ought to be spent at home."

This applies to Oakland as well as to Sacramento. Civic loyalty is not bounded by latitude or restricted in longitude. Like charity, it begins at home, and in business exemplifies the spirit of broad co-operation and mutual help. It implies that neighbors should stand together in supporting the joint burdens of communal life and promoting the common good. Trade is the life of a community. When citizens of a town take their trade to another town they injure the business of the entire community and retard the development of their own community.

When trade goes abroad the merchant and the clerk go with it. The butcher and baker who supply the merchant and clerk go likewise; hence taking trade elsewhere depletes a town of its workers and capital, and stifles the development of local industry.

Trade is essentially reciprocal barter and exchange, hence the butcher who sells the merchant steaks, the baker who sells him bread and the dairyman who sells him milk are under a moral obligation to buy their goods of him. The landlord who passes the door of the premises he rents to the local tradesman to do his buying in some other town, is surely working to depress the value of his own property by reducing its rental. His actions prove that his property is not well situated for doing a profitable business.

And merchants should remember that the obligations of domestic loyalty are as binding on them as on anybody else. They should give as good bargains and render as good service to their neighbors as possible, for a town cannot draw to itself outside business unless it can meet the demands and supply the wants of its own inhabitants. The dry goods merchant who buys his groceries or his wines in a neighboring city has small claim on the patronage of his neighbors, certainly no right to complain if the grocer and the vintner buy their cloth and turbelows elsewhere. It is well to remember these things at the approach of the holiday season, for in a period when trade is brisk and generous emotions are at high tide appeals to the sentiment of neighborly feeling and civic loyalty are likely to strike a responsive chord. It is upon that sentiment that the foundations of great cities are laid. "Stand by the town" is the motto which has prompted the marvelous growth of Chicago and Los Angeles. Let Oaklanders adopt it, and presto! we shall soon have a city here that will excite wonder and admiration.

The stereotyped query of the New York press, "Where did you get it?" appears to be as pertinent to Mayor McClellan's majority as it is to Boss Murphy's wealth.

The Marysville Appeal appears to think that the State and National governments should detract the cost of reclaiming swamp land belonging to private parties because the Feather river was navigable in early days. It is a strenuous reason strenuously wrought out. Without considering its faultiness in general or its irrelevancy in particular, we venture to remind our Marysville friend that he has lost sight of one essential factor in the problem. The swamp lands in question were sold by the State to their present owners for a nominal consideration on the express condition that the purchasers would reclaim them. If the owners do not wish to comply with this condition let them deed the land back to the State. The State has no more right to reclaim land for private parties than it has to buy a new press for the Marysville Appeal, still less should it be asked to do what individuals have obligated themselves for an express consideration to do.

Ex-Governor Odell is now in a position to commiserate ex-Governor Budd. It's a case of Hyde and McCurdy with both.

LET THE SWAMP-LAND PEOPLE PAY THEIR OWN COSTS

The Marysville Appeal tries to reply to THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE'S convincing argument against the swamp-land job, a summary of which was printed in this paper yesterday. THE TRIBUNE is entirely capable of attending to the Appeal and we leave the Appeal to the Oakland editor's mercies.

We merely suggest to the Marysville writer that he has been seriously misinformed as to his facts. No government commission ever told the landowners much, it is true, but the swamp lands existed long before hydraulic mining, and for "slickens," the Wilkes expedition in 1841 could not get into the mouth of the Feather, at all, in 1849 a boat drawing eighteen inches of water could not enter it and in 1850, the Judson party, in a whaleboat, could not cross a riffle a few miles below Marysville. Yet, for the next ten years a line of steamers was maintained to Marysville and in winters vessels with propellers have been known to reach that town. In other words, everything was going along all right until the levee-building era began, and, even as it is today, the Feather is deeper than it was before there was any mining at all.

The Appeal would better acquaint itself with historical facts before attempting to discuss this question. Incidentally, too, the Appeal says the government commissions recommended to the people the levees. That is wholly incorrect. There were army engineers who had charge of the rivers and these officers made annual reports to the Chief of Engineers, United States Army, but the first official investigation of the rivers ordered by Congress was made by Col. George H. Mendell under authority of the River and Harbor Act of 1880, which directed the Secretary of War to "make surveys and examinations." Levees had been constructed for twenty-five years before that. The swamp lands were bought by people who agreed to reclaim them. That they never did so effectively, but adopted the levee system, is not the government's fault, nor the people's. Let the swamp-land owners reclaim their own land at their own expense.—Nevada City Miner-Transcript.

WHAT OF THE HAMMER BRIGADE?

THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE of Monday published a compilation recently made of the resources of Alameda county, and the showing is certainly very creditable. In looking over the list, however, we find one of her greatest activities—politics—is not mentioned. Surely the salaries of Alameda county's brigade of office-holders would, if added together, produce a total which would command prominence in any table of statistics.—Vacaville Reporter.

NOW WILL HE BE GOOD.

Rev. Frederick Clappett of San Francisco has publicly declared that club activity for women is tending to destroy home life.

Now come the club women of that city and aver he is mistaken. As one proof demonstrating his error, which is a sample of all the others, they state that a recent meeting of the Forum Club the debate on "Resolved, That club life is beneficial to home life," was decided in favor of the affirmative by 53 to 13.

There, now! Rev. Clappett cannot know what he is talking about, for the very women he accuses have themselves decided he is wrong! What more could he ask?—Sacramento Bee.

Wake up Your Liver
Not too much, just a little, just enough to start the bile nicely. One of Ayer's Pills at bedtime is all you need. These pills act directly on the liver. They cure constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, sick-headache. Sold for 60 years. We have no equal. No pain. No danger. The foundation of all good health.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS

Because it's For One Thing Only, and Oakland is Learning to Appreciate This.

Nothing can be good for everything. Doing one thing well brings success. Doan's Kidney Pills do one thing only.

They cure sick kidneys. They cure backache, every kidney ail.

Walter J. Plummer, of 1228 Versailles avenue, Alameda, Cal., says: "I was induced to use Doan's Kidney Pills from reading an advertisement in the paper. Before I had used them I had tried a great number of other kidney medicines to relieve the backache from which I had suffered for some years, but none of them gave me the relief that Doan's Kidney Pills did. Every cold I took settled in the small of my back but Doan's Kidney Pills quickly relieved me. I heartily recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Company, Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

THE FOOTBALL BLOSSOM.

A truce pro tem to politics. That theme replete with foulest shame;

A truce to that appalling mix. The Russian Czar-dethroning game.

To things of beauty and of grace. Let's turn. Right opportune comes

The chance, for at this time takes place

The line-up of chrysanthemums.

Within the crystal shrine which Philipps

Endowed, behold the gallant show Of blooms which easily eclipse

All rivals with their royal glow Of color, Mark the thousand hues

They sport, as though to take their fling

Rejoiced them. Hurry then, O Muse! The kingly-looking "mum" let's sing.

Some are white as driven snow, And some are of a flaming red;

And some are yellow like the show Of ringlets on a faxen head.

And then the shades between—the pinks

The purples, the maroon, the browns And lilacs. Such a show, methinks,

The glory of Dame Nature crowns.

Their shapes? Ah, there's where they outvie

The whole plant kingdom. They impress

The expert and admiring eye Directly by their chipperness,

Which marks their tresses. One would swear

That in the same there is revealed The charm of real Rugby hair

The pride of every football field.

Aye, there the football fiend might make

A study of the noble art Of dressing hair without mistake

So as to capture every heart And prove his mettle. For the skilled Hard kickers, every one a "bird," A motto there, to suit their guild.

The same is simply: "Mum's the word."

Alas, that under glass These marvels grow. 'Twould be a boon

If it should ever come to pass That in our yards, with sun and moon

To foster them, they'd thrive and bloom.

Complete, indeed, would be the sum Of bliss if all around would bloom

The Rugby-crowned chrysanthemum.

When the editors of interior papers tilt at Oakland nowadays they stir up Tartars. The editor of the Bakersfield Californian has been saying things from the base-point of Oakland as she used to be. His observations are incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial. The Oakland of today is entirely different. The Bakersfield paper rings a very old change in telling how everybody goes to San Francisco to trade when they ought to stay at home and would do so if the home merchants were up to date. The gentleman doesn't know how the people are changing their habit in that regard; how splendid big stores, that vie with any, have been established. He should come to town and see how things have changed—how we have all grown.—Alameda Argus.

DAYS CHRIST WAS NOT A CHRISTIAN

(By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, November 21.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Stamford, Conn., says: "If Christ had come to Stamford and had been elected a delegate to the interchurch conference at New York, would he be admitted?" The answer given by the Rev. A. Eugene Bartlett, pastor of the Universalist church here last night caused a deal of comment: "It is not probable that a movement which ought to mean as much as an interchurch conference would be overlooked by Christ," said Mr. Bartlett. "It may be that his superior intellect, his spotless character, his unselfish service for humanity would elect him to that conference. "If the wise and conscientious men among the delegates insisted Christ's case might come up for a hearing and be handed over to a committee to determine whether or not he should be admitted. The ordinary evangelical tests probably would be applied to him, for among many it has come to be not what Christ believed but what the churches believe that determines the Christian. And now hear the verdict of the conference: "WE ARE SORRY TO SAY THAT YOU CANNOT BE ADMITTED. YOU ARE NOT A CHRISTIAN. YOU ARE A GOOD MAN—YOU HAVE FED THE HUNGRY, YOU HAVE CLOTHED THE NAKED, YOU HAVE BEEN A BROTHER TO THOSE IN DISTRESS, BUT YOU ARE NOT EVANGELICAL, YOU ARE NOT A CHRISTIAN."

CAN YOU LIVE ON 3 CENTS A DAY?

(By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Can a teamster buy clothing and shoes for himself and family, pay doctor's bills, buy school books for his children, and get the minor household necessities for three cents a day? That is the question that a committee from the Oil Wagon Drivers' Union asked Manager Stephen N. Hurd, of the Standard Oil Company yesterday. The oil wagon drivers receive $2 a day, and are asking for an increase to $75 a month. They adopted a novel method of presenting their case to the representative of the richest corporation in the world. A committee headed by James Duffy, the business agent of the union, called on Manager Hurd yesterday. "I want to show you what it costs the average family to live," said Duffy. He presented a schedule showing that rent, food, fuel, light and carfare cost a man $1.97 a day. "We get $2 a day," said Duffy, "and I ask you if you think that we can buy clothing and other necessary things on three cents a day. Could you live on $2 a day yourself, Mr. Hurd?" "No, I don't believe I could, boys," replied Mr. Hurd, "and probably you can't either, but the fact is, I can get plenty of teamsters who are willing to work for that price. That is really what governs wages more than the cost of living." The new scale has been approved by the Teamsters' Joint Council. A meeting of the union will be held tonight to vote on the question of calling a strike. Three independent companies have already agreed to pay the increase.

THE SAVING GRACE—A HINT FOR THOSE WHO WOULD SPORT HALOS

The Wicked Woman came to the Gate of Paradise. She bowed her superb head and sorrowfully gazed through the tall bars at the shining spirits within. "Alas," said she to the Guardian Angel at the wicket, "I have no right to enter. I am the Wicked Woman. I am the Woman who passed her life amid indulgence. I enjoyed my pleasure and my luxuries. I satisfied my desire for witty company and good cheer. I played bridge for ten cents a point. I never was a patroness for a charitable bazaar. I sacrificed most things so that I might be draped in Russian sables and dangle gold gewgaws from the wrist. I cut away from the religious teachings of my youth. I dyed my hair and crimsoned my lips, so that I could defeat the boor, Time, who wished to rob me of my charms. My feasting and reveling have doomed me. Assign me to my fate." The Guardian Angel was glancing at the book of records. A benign smile brightened the sternly beautiful face. To the Wicked Woman she said: "Come within, sister, and join the good women. You may not be of their class. But you will be a curiosity. You have never gossiped."

AFTER 32 YEARS WOMAN SUES FOR A SEPARATION

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—After thirty-two years of brooding over the alleged desertion of her by her husband, Mary A. Chatterton, until recently a resident of Lynn, Mass., yesterday applied to Justice Dickey in Brooklyn for separation from James A. Chatterton. Not once in that time did the woman seek legal severance of her marriage bonds. The strange case caused lengthy arguments by counsel yesterday as to whether the statute of limitations would prevent Mrs. Chatterton from securing a separation after so long a period. The peculiar charge is made that Chatterton tossed a coin to see whether he should remain with his wife and seven children, or leave them for good. Mrs. Chatterton says her husband threw the coin in the air, saying: "Heads to stay, tails to go." The coin fell tails. Chatterton, who lives in Hancock street, Brooklyn, became rich after he left his wife. He was a member of a prosperous firm, and accumulated $75,000, most of which he lost. It is declared the man told his wife, then in Lynn, that he was going to New York to arrange for carpenter work. That was thirty-two years ago. He did not return for a year. Then he wrote, asking that certain tools be sent to him. Mrs. Chatterton complied. Two years later he visited Lynn, and then tossed the coin. One of his sons met him in New York afterward and induced him to send $5 a week to his wife, which he says he did, and also sending from $50 to $300 at various times. Justice Dickey decided that Mrs. Chatterton had a case, and took the papers. The Kaiser receives $3,925,000 a year as King of Prussia, but nothing as Emperor of Germany. Besides this he has an enormous private income, derived from mines, fisheries and estates, of which he owns more than any other man in Prussia. The King of Bavaria receives $1,850,000 a year; the King of Saxony, $875,000; the Grand Duke of Baden, $400,000. The Czar of Russia is paid $4,750,000 for his private use, while each Grand Duke receives $1,000,000 a year. In addition to these enormous salaries each of these rulers has a large income from royalties and perquisites of many kinds, of which few outsiders know anything.

SOCIETY

BRIDGE GAINS IN SOCIETY FAVOR

CARD DEVOTEES ENJOY PLEASANT MEETINGS—OTHER AFFAIRS PLANNED.

Mrs. Egbert Stone was hostess this afternoon at a pleasant bridge party given at her home on Jackson street. A score of guests enjoyed an hour at bridge followed by an informal tea, for which a number of additional guests were invited. Mrs. Stone will entertain Tuesday afternoon, November 28, and bridge is the game announced. BRIDGE CLUB. Mrs. Frank Brigham entertained the members of the Monday Afternoon Bridge Club yesterday. The prize was carried off by Mrs. James G. Allen. The players included Mrs. Tyler Henshaw, Mrs. George Hammer, Miss Strong, Mrs. N. A. Acker, Mrs. Harry Knowles, Mrs. Edson Adams, Mrs. James G. Allen, Mrs. C. O. Alexander, Mrs. Harry Meek, Mrs. Hayward G. Thomas, Mrs. Charles Sutton, Miss Hall, Mrs. Ford Hathaway, Mrs. J. R. Burnham, Mrs. Charles Houghton, Mrs. Minor Goodall, Mrs. Egbert Stone, Mrs. Andrew Moseley, Mrs. Lillian Brown Everts, Miss Florine Brown and others. AT CARD PARTY. Among the guests from this side of the bay who attended the second card party given by Mrs. Ernest Albert Stent for Miss Gladys Clark, of New York, were Mrs. Frederick Palmer, Miss Viva Nicholson, Mrs. Kenneth Lowden and others. EBELL CLUB. This afternoon at Ebell marked one of the enjoyable receptions of the season. Mrs. Melvin C. Chapman was presiding hostess, and the speaker of the day was Hon. Tiley L. Ford of San Francisco. The subject of the discourse was "The Law and the Lady," and a large and interested audience greeted the well-known speaker. The musical program was as follows: Selections, Professor Palmer's Mandolin and Guitar Quintet; vocal solo, (a) "Since We Parted" (Francis Allitsen), (b) "Dandelion" (A. Blowling), Mrs. A. E. Nash; vocal solo, (a) "Night" (Landon Ronald), (b) "The Spring Has Come" (M. V. White), Mrs. E. L. Dow; accompanist, Mrs. A. C. Fay. The club rooms were effectively decorated under the direction of Mrs. E. A. Heron, Mrs. George Bornemann, Mrs. Charles H. Lovell, Mrs. A. T. Eastland and Mrs. E. C. Fernham. Mrs. Chapman was assisted in receiving by Mrs. J. B. Hume, the club's president, the board of directors, Mrs. Kate Bulkeley, Mrs. Paul Lohse, Mrs. J. G. Allen, Mrs. W. H. Creed, Mrs. Newton Koser, Mrs. Frederick Stratton, Mrs. Edgar Stone, Mrs. M. F. Jordan, Mrs. E. L. Dow, Mrs. J. W. McClymonds, Mrs. G. M. Stolp, Mrs. D. B. Hunter, Mrs. J. W. McClure, Mrs. George Lackie, Mrs. Charles Kierulff, Mrs. Dudley Kinsell, Miss Annie Farrier and Miss Rutherford. MAYHEW-SHINN. The marriage at noon yesterday of Miss Florence Mayhew and Joseph C. Shinn was one of wide interest. The ceremony took place under the drooping boughs of a large pepper tree, and the bower of pepper, intertwined vines and pink blossoms made an ideal setting for the pretty ceremony. Rev. F. H. Maas, of this city, was the officiating clergyman. The bride wore a gown of Brussels net over silk, and she carried a bower of lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a topaz set in pearls, the gift of the groom. The bridesmaids were Miss Lila McKune and Miss Mabel Yates, each gowning in pink and white organdie, and carrying bridesmaids roses. A wreath of pink roses was worn in the hair. The ribbon bearers were Ruth Shinn and Emelita Mayhew, each wearing silk frocks and pink roses. Henry Patterson of Newark acted as best man. Over 150 guests enjoyed the reception and wedding breakfast. The groom is a University man and one of the prominent citizens of Niles. FOR BRIDE-ELECT. Mrs. William Morrish will entertain on Thursday for Miss Ellen Fearn, whose marriage with Raymond Crane will be one of the events of the near future. Miss Farretta Davis entertained the members of the bridal party today at her home on Wadsworth avenue, and a pleasant afternoon was enjoyed. SOCIETY NOTES. Miss Emily Chickering, the fiancée of William Overbury and Miss Alice Treanor, whose engagement to Clarence Oddie was recently announced, will share the honors at an elaborate card party planned by Mrs. Frederick Palmer. The afternoon is Thursday, November 23, and bridge whist is the game announced. Sixty friends are included in the guest list. Miss Chickering will again be the honored guest at a large luncheon to be given November 23 by Mrs. Charles B. Wingate. It is to take place at the Claremont Country Club and the guest list includes about thirty society maids and matrons. AT LUNCHEON. Mrs. Harry Knowles was hostess today at an informal luncheon given at the Country Club. The guest of honor was Mrs. William Creswell of Philadelphia, who is visiting here, and others invited were Mrs. Charles Minor Goodall, Mrs. George W. McNear Jr., Mrs. Clinton Walker, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Edson Adams, Mrs. William P. White, Miss Van Wyck and Mrs. Dixwell Hewitt. OAKLAND CLUB. The Oakland Club announces an open day for tomorrow when Mrs. George Barnes Bird will address the meeting, choosing for her subject, "The Club Woman and Her Work." The choral section will appear tomorrow for the first time in public. PERSONALS. Mrs. R. G. Swartout has been visiting her two sons, Oliver and Henry Brown at Blue Lake. Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Martin are spending a few weeks at Santa Cruz. E. L. Priest is in Santa Cruz stopping at the St. George.

GIRL DIVORCED 6 HOURS, LOVES AT SIGHT; WEDS

CINCINNATI, Nov. 21.—Love at first sight, two weeks' courtship of a widower, a married woman and a wedding six hours after divorce are the interesting facts in connection with the marriage in St. Helena of Mrs. Blanche Hamilton Lemmon, of this city, to Louis Lawrence Salveter, of the World's Fair town. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hamilton, of fashionable Walnut Hills, and several years ago she was married to Jack Lemmon, of this city. The pair went to Chicago to live and seemed very happy. About a year ago Mrs. Lemmon returned to the home of her parents. No word or trace of Lemmon has reached his family or friends since, and it seemed as though the earth had opened and swallowed him. Several weeks ago Mrs. Lemmon went to St. Louis to visit at the palatial home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walsh, in Cabanne place, and it was there that she met Mr. Salveter at a dinner party. Mrs. Lemmon had instituted proceedings for a divorce, and returned to the city for several days a week ago to consult with her lawyers. On her return to St. Louis again preparations for her marriage in anticipation of the divorce, were made, and six hours after her father telegraphed that she was freed from Mr. Lemmon she became Mrs. Salveter. The wedding took place at the Walsh home, Mrs. Walsh serving as matron of honor and Mr. Walsh as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Salveter are in New York on their wedding tour and are contemplating a trip abroad, after which they will take an apartment in New York.

COST PRINCE $1000 FOR HIS DENTALWORK

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Prince Louis' strenuous life in America included several extra strenuous hours in a dentist's chair, and that particular part of his program proved costly. The total time spent with the dentist was twelve hours, according to a friend of the Prince, and the bill was $1000. When the bill was presented the Prince said nothing but gave his check for the amount. Later in the day, however, he showed the receipt to his friend, Colonel Robert M. Thompson, who declared that it was pretty steep even for a New York dentist. "The Prince paid the bill as soon as it was presented," said Colonel Thompson last night, "and the matter would have ended there had I not seen the amount charged. I told the Prince what I thought about it, and his British sense of fair play caused him to make a protest. The bill as presented was not itemized, and the Prince at my suggestion, wrote the dentist asking that an itemized bill be sent to Sir Percy Sanderson, the British Consul-General. All further action will be in Sir Percy's hands. "The work done by the dentist consisted in filling four teeth and putting in an artificial one." The dentist who did the work for the Prince was not at home to visitors last night. Earlier in the day he is reported to have declined to discuss the matter beyond saying that a bill had been presented and paid.

ALICE NIELSEN'S BAGGAGE HELD FOR BILL OF A HOTEL OWNER

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—While Miss Alice Nielsen was peacefully sleeping the other morning, after a hard and successful night's work as Norina in "Don Pasquale," the expressman arrived at the Hotel Astor to take her theatrical baggage away, her personal baggage, which contained a large quantity of jewels and clothes of great value being still in her room. It was essential that the theatrical baggage should leave early in the day. Miss Nielsen's own train was to leave at 5:30. The management of the Astor, however refused to give up the trunks to the expressman until Miss Nielsen's bill was settled. Unconscious of all this, Alice Nielsen slumbered on, and as she is not an expert in the art of paying bills while asleep, the trunks were held. Her manager, Henry Russell, was also ignorant of the action of the management. About 1 o'clock, however, he carelessly remarked to the clerk at the desk, "The theatrical baggage got off all right, I suppose?" "No!" said the clerk, curtly. "No?" gasped Russell. "Why, man, if it did not get off by the morning train, it won't get to Toledo in time for the performance!" "HELD FOR RANSOM." "Neither Miss Nielsen's bill nor your own is paid," said the head clerk; when they are, the baggage will be released. "But a man doesn't pay a hotel bill at 8 in the morning when he is going to leave at 5 in the evening." There was no reply. "This is disgraceful," thundered Russell. "If the trunks are too late for the performance I shall instruct my lawyers to sue you." The clerk stolidly replied: "When the bills are paid, Mr. Russell, the trunks will be released." Russell took out a gold cigar case, laden with greenbacks, and discharged all liabilities. At the moment Miss Nielsen stepped up and heard the end of the discussion. "This is a nice way to treat a woman of means, who is backed by a responsible management and whose name is known to every one on Broadway?" "Has the hotel a license?" she queried. She was informed that the proprietors were duly licensed to sell liquors, etc. "No," interrupted Miss Nielsen, "I mean a license to do business; they seem so painfully inexperienced." SHE KEPT HER TEMPER. Keeping her temper, Miss Nielsen said: "I have been treated as if I were a defaulting chorus girl at an $8-a-week boarding house, in a jay town. However, I prefer to think of the charming letter I have had from Caruso this morning rather than of such uncivilized behavior. "Caruso, with whom I have already sung in 'Boheme' in London, writes to me saying: 'A thousand thanks for the delicious hour I spent listening to you as 'Norina.' " "Lillian Russell—that dear good woman—told me over the telephone that I had done nobly and that she hoped I would attain my ambition, as I deserved. "Ah! but it is a rocky road, this pathway to the temple of operatic fame. But the door is opened now for me and I have got my nose in, even though it is a little one, and no one now is going to close the door on me. "I shall arrive where I want to by dint of the same hard work that got me from the chorus into the class of comic opera stars, and got me out of the wooden shoes of the Singing Girl into the part of Gilda in Verdi's 'Rigoletto.' " When questioned as to the detention of the singer's baggage the management of the Astor refused to discuss the incident, stating that Miss Nielsen's and Mr. Russell's bills had been duly settled.

ENTIRE POPULATION OF DOGS IS TO BE EXTERMINATED

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., November 21.—In the last three days seventy dogs, two-thirds of the dog population of this town have been hanged, drowned or shot. The extermination is due to the death of three-year-old Mary Harris and the fear of a hydrophobia epidemic. It will continue until every dog in the town is killed. The girl was bitten by a dog on October 26th and the physicians found that she had hydrophobia. The town officials learned that fifty dogs had been bitten by the dog that bit her. The common council authorized the Mayor to take any action necessary to wipe out all dogs.

RACING FOOTBALL BASEBALL BOXING

MANY WISE ONES FAVOR CHANCES OF "TWIN" SULLIVAN

It is surprising how many good judges of boxing there are who pick Mike (Twin) Sullivan to beat Jimmy Gardner when the two rival welterweights meet in the ring Friday night. The men who like Sullivan's chances are fellows who have been mixed up in pugilistic matters for a number of years and who are rated excellent judges of fighting form.

Everyone who likes Gardner's chances the best are persons who have never seen Sullivan in the warmth of battle, and therefore their opinions are not to be considered. Those who believe the scrapping Twin will cart away that 75 per cent of the money to be allowed the boxers are those who have seen both Jimmy and Mike in actual warfare.

These kind of opinions count for something, because they come from the prejudiced minds of men who are known as authorities on such matters and whose opinions are created from what has been actually seen of the two fighters.

Tim McGrath, who has handled as many boxers as the next fellow, says Mike Sullivan will defeat Gardner, and Tim goes on record as saying that Mike is the greatest boxer of his weight and inches in America today.

Eddie Burns, a New Yorker, who has fought and died in battle, is of the same

ROBERT FITZSIMMONS HAS A WEIRD SCHEME

While being rubbed down yesterday afternoon after a journey on the road, Robert Fitzsimmons, in his training quarters at Capt. S. J. Gardner's, Alameda, unfolded a strange scheme to a Tribune man.

Mr. Fitzsimmons was in a pensive mood. He had been asked to talk about the conduct of pugilism in America, and he thought out one thing to be done.

"There ain't but one thing to be done," said he, "and that is to give the government control of the boxing game."

Mr. Fitzsimmons stretched out a leg. Alphonse, the colored valet, carrying a riding boot, followed the general direction of the leg until he reached the extremity.

"Immediate municipal ownership of the street cars and government control of boxing." Then both of 'em would be on the square.

Alphonse came back with the other boot, and the eminent physical culturist and social economist stretched out the other leg.

ENDORSES MAYOR DUNNE.

With Mayor Dunne on municipal ownership, but not 'is boxing' policy, these Chicago street cars are the worst in the world.

"What all the boxing game in this country is graft," he said, recalling the original subject of the interview. "Graft everywhere and getting worse. The people like the game, but it's got to go in the cap that pays $5 to see a go in is in the same boat as the chap that pays premiums to the New York Life Insurance Company—'a pays 'is money and gets what somebody else wants to give 'im."

"As I was sayin', the boxing game 'as suffered more from graft than any other business. Somebody ought to write a book on 'is finance among the prize fighters—'d make 'em. Tom Lawson's 'Frenzied Finance' look like a dandelion alongside of Tom Lawson's $50,000 pink. But, remember, it's the managers, not the fighters."

The managers, these 'is financiers of pugilism, 'ave tried to make 'em fighters crooked, and I'm sorry to say, 'ave succeeded in some cases. Mr. 'igh Financier comes to you, and 'e says: 'Say, this 'is to be 'is contest, understand 'at the same time winkin' 'is eye. You say: 'But I can lick this guy.' 'E says: 'What if you can? It's to be 'is contest. Finally, if you're a fighter without much fame and are 'ard up, you say: 'All right, I'll make the match.' Where does the public get off?"

CO-EDS CHASE DENTISTS WIN ROWING CREW BASEBALL GAME

BERKELEY, Nov. 21.—The University of California freshmen co-eds held their try-outs for places on the class rowing crew last Saturday afternoon on Lake Merritt, working under the direction of Miss Marion O. Schneider, assisted by Miss E. M. Reed, manager and assistant manager of the Women's Boating Association. The crew picked was Miss E. Frary, Miss H. M. Atkinson, Miss L. Armitage and Miss Johnson. Others who contested were: Misses O. Burroughs, M. Gould, E. Kreutzer, J. David, N. Curtis, B. H. Ricardo, E. Murphy, E. Gamble and K. Kretzinger.

ST. MARY'S IS WINNER AGAIN

St. Mary's School baseball team, defeated the Market Street Stars on Saturday last by a score of 14 to 3. The features of the game were the catching of Walter Mitchell and the pitching of Emmet Galvin of the St. Mary's team. The St. Mary's team would like to hear from any team on the Pacific Coast whose players average fourteen years. Address all challenges to E. Galvin, 715 Filbert street, Oakland.

NEW RAILROAD FOR VALLEJO

VALLEJO, Nov. 21.—The latest electric road news is to the effect that the East Shore line, which has a suburban route on the Oakland side of the bay, is busy getting the rights of way from San Pablo to Vallejo Junction, from which point they will tap the Mare Island metropolis and divide traffic with the Montclair Steamship Company and the Southern Pacific.

COULD CURE CATARRH

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than in all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Company, Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

HANLON CHALLENGED BY DICK HYLAND

MANAGER IS WILLING TO BET COIN

Dick McClintic, who is looking after Dick Hyland's affairs, is very eager to get this boy on with Eddie Hanlon.

"I will go to Los Angeles when Eddie fights Young Erne, and challenge him for one thousand dollars," declares McClintic. "I will have the money with me, and will enter the ring, hand it to the referee, and put it down as a guarantee of good faith on the part of Hyland and myself."

"Hanlon is one fighter that Dick can lick, and Hanlon knows it. I have $500 on deposit and Hanlon can have $500 more if he cares to take a chance with Hyland."

"Dick is at his best now. He has been taking the finest care of himself, and Hanlon realizes that he cannot defeat the boy."

"Why doesn't Eddie give Dick a chance if he thinks he can beat him? Hanlon knows Hyland's merits, and is afraid of him. Dick is ready to meet Hanlon and make all reasonable concessions. And Dick can get the backing to make it worth Eddie's while to fight him. All Hanlon has to do to get a match is to signify his intention. In fact he has one waiting for him. Hyland is in rare condition now. He feels that he can defeat Hanlon."

STANFORD FOOTBALL SQUAD MAY LOSE THE SERVICE OF ITS COACH, JIM LANAGAN

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 21.—Will Louis P. Banebach ultimately succeed J. F. Lanagan as coach of Stanford's football team? This is a long look ahead, but the question is one that is being widely discussed on the Stanford campus at the present time. Lanagan undoubtedly could have the job if he wanted it, but he is unlikely to renew his contract after its expiration, two years hence. He is taking work in the law department of the university now, and in three years he expects to be a full-fledged lawyer. He says positively that he will never coach after his present engagement expires, for the work is too exhausting on the nerves.

Stanford, therefore, must seek a new coach and here is where the search begins. It is believed that a good measure of Stanford's success in football in the past three years has been the continuance of the same system and the same policy, under the same guiding hand. The departure of Lanagan might mean the inauguration of a system radically different, and making necessary the doing over again of all that has been accomplished and made permanent policy under the present regime.

Stanford in the past has had experienced of this kind, and it has been costly. With different coach and different ideas year by year it meant little to be a veteran, and to some extent was a handicap. Men unlearned one year what they had learned the year before, and so the game naturally advanced but slowly, and the criticism was merited that the Coast football was behind the times. That this has been changed in late years is made evident by competent Eastern critics, who have nothing but praise for the Western game.

Just how far the Western advance has been will be made evident next year, when it is believed that if Stanford has the strong eleven he expects she will be able to schedule a game with the University of Michigan, coached by Yost, who ranks as the greatest football coach of the day. Stanford, too, leans strongly to the plan of graduate coaching, for the experience with imported Eastern coaches has been that they come out here to win the one great game at any cost, with the result that the best interests of the sport are sacrificed.

Stanford, therefore, is already looking forward with anxiety to the time when Lanagan goes. The solution that suggests itself now lies in the probability that Banebach will continue to coach the freshman teams and assist Lanagan with the varsity. Banebach has played two years under Lanagan's coaching, and knows his game thoroughly. With three years' experience as assistant coach he would be well equipped to take up the work when Lanagan lays it down, and to continue his policy and methods unchanged. Banebach, one of the best quarters and field generals the Coast has, and a man of strong and pleasing personality, would probably be a better man than any other graduate player that Stanford knows of now, and would make the best possible substitute for Lanagan. Banebach, who graduated last May, has accepted a position with a San Francisco sporting goods house, and consequently will remain in close touch with athletic events. When questioned as to the possibility of his return next year, he says, "Don't ask me. It's too early."

WILL BRITT COME BACK TO FORM? WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO OTHERS

While Jimmy Britt is crying his eagerness to fight Battling Nelson, men who take more than a mere passing interest in affairs of fistiana are wondering if Britt will be as good a man as he was prior to the terrible beating he received at the hands of Nelson. Britt himself holds that he was not hurt very much, Nelson says that he literally beat Britt black and blue, inside and out.

"When he was taking the final count," said Nelson, "I noticed that his tongue, which protruded, was black as my shoe and swollen to twice its natural size. Several times during the battle I saw that his tongue was enlarged and hanging out. I warned him that a blow on the chin might make him chop it off."

Billy Nolan, who says that Britt is the hardest man in the ring to make weak, said that Nelson fairly hammered the heart-out of Jimmy, in the light of what terrific beatings did to other fighters, it will be interesting to watch how Britt will perform in his next bout.

JACKSON KILLED SLAVIN.

When Frank Slavin came from Australia he was heralded as a man who could take any amount of punishment without flinching. His battles with Jack Burke, Jim Smith and Jake Kilrain showed that the high estimate of his ability in taking pain was not amiss.

He was held in such high esteem in the minds of Sullivan's friends that when Slavin came to the Southern Hotel in St. Louis and shook $5000 under the very nose of Sullivan, then an undefeated man, the big fellow refused a meeting, saying he had retired from the ring and was perfectly willing to hand the championship over to the sturdy and hustling Australian.

Then came Slavin's fight with Jackson, and to this day it is referred to as the greatest battle that ever took place in England. For ten rounds these wonderful fighters stood up before each other, and it was give and take all the time.

No one for a moment believed that the man drew breath that could stand up and exchange blows with Slavin. They had figured that Jackson would make a run-away fight of it and eventually bring Slavin down.

Imagine their surprise when Peter decided to mix matters. For a few rounds they could not believe their eyes, and then gradually they noticed a weakening in Slavin. He never recovered from that punishment. Jim Hall and others easily disposed of him. The climax came when Nick Burley put him away in Alaska. Burley could not have lasted ten seconds when Slavin was at his best.

DEMPEY NEVER RECOVERED.

Jack Dempsey never recovered from the beating Fitzsimmons gave him at New Orleans.

He could not have beaten a bantam-weight after that fight, and yet he was a wonderful pugilist until it took the heart destroyed by fire of unknown origin early today. The loss is estimated at $25,000. The corporation is in the hands of a receiver.

FAVORITES LOSE, SO BOOKMAKERS GET THE COIN

Many a crippled bank roll is convalescent today for the layers of odds certainly reaped a harvest at Emeryville yesterday. They started right in with the first race and went down the line without one favorite coming home to gladden the hearts of the talent. E. C. Runtz carried the bulk of the coin in the first, but didn't make much of a showing and finished way back. Dr. Sherman outclassed the wire an easy winner. Metta Kalia was second from instrument. The latter will soon make good.

In the second race the rank outsider Sir Preston, with Jockey Minder at the helm, downed the red-hot favorite, Royal Regue, by a neck. Nealon's sprinter closed at even money and was supposed to be oil in the can, but proved bad investment. Matt Hogan made up a world of ground and was an easy third, but he was heavily played, but finished in the rack.

I'm Joe was the choice in the third and after battering his backers to the stretch, grew somewhat weary and Comito skilfully ridden by R. K. Kest, outclassed the favorite to the wire, when let down, Nealon was seven-lengths back for the show.

Watercourse lost the fourth race through carelessness on the part of jockey Sir. He was out in front all the way, but swung wide when turning far home, which allowed Divina to slip through on the rail. He did not notice his mistake till too late to do any good. McBride put up a first-class ride on the wire, which accounts for his victory. Kalia, who was the contender throughout, finished in third place.

A bad bunch lined up in the fifth race, and the way the money poured in on Cloche O'R she looked like a sure bet. She was by far the best horse in the race. The boy had her in all kinds of pockets, and at that she was only beaten a neck, by Sherry, who was given a much better ride. Tramway finished third.

The biggest surprise of the day came in the last race, when Chell Hedrick at the head of the field, came like a whirlwind at the finish and just got up to score by a neck from Albert Fir. He outclassed the heavy-backed favorite at a 9 to 20 after leading to the stretch, grew weary and checked in up, and just lasted long enough to finish on the limb.

"FARMER" GREEN IS HERE
LOOKING FOR A FIGHT

Sporting Editor Tribune—Dear Sir: Elmer, "Farmer" Green, who hails from Fair Oaks, is in town looking for a match with some one of Oakland's promising young heavies. Green, who is attending Dixon College, has quite a record, having cleaned up all the available fighters in his locality, and the sporting fraternity of Fair Oaks is willing to risk their money on the ability of the "big steer" of Sacramento county to dispose of any of the local boys. His manager, Jake Cahill, says that the "Farmer" is a strong willing boy with a good punch in either hand, and would like to pit him against "Kid" Bosco or some other local heavy. Address challenges to J. Cahill, Raymond Hotel, 564 Twelfth street.

Will say that I am willing to back my man against any of the Oakland heavies up to $150.

Respectfully yours,
JAMES CAHILL.

McDonnell and George Lavigne so that never after did he again class himself among the champions. Gans' placed Frank Erne where he would never be dangerous again.

Solly Smith was considered a wonder in California, and his progress was of the meteoric order. His battle with Johnny Griffin almost put him to the bad. As he was, however, he kept on and his heart was not broken. But when George Stanford knows of now, and would make the best possible substitute for Lanagan. MARION SCHNEIDER. University Girls to Have Club Which Will Foster Interest in Aquatic Sport.

BERKELEY, November 21.—A delegation of Freshman women students of the University met yesterday afternoon at Lake Merritt for the purpose of organizing a permanent '09 boat club and holding the try-outs for the boating team. The try-outs were held under the direction of Miss Marion Schneider, '06, with Miss Reed, '06, assistant manager. Those who were successful in making the crew are Miss Fray, Miss Atkinson, Miss Johnson and Miss Armitage. Besides the four who made the team, the following '09 women contested: The Misses O. Burroughs, M. Kreutzer, M. Gould, J. David, N. Curtis, B. H. Ricardo, H. Murphy, E. Gamble and G. Kretzinger. Much enthusiasm was shown in the contests and the boating season promises to be a most successful one. No definite date has been set for the try-outs of the women of upper classes, but it is expected that the contests will be held in the near future.

BERKELEY, Nov. 21.—President Wheeler is in receipt of a letter from Rufus P. Jennings of the California Promotion Committee inviting the students of the University of California to attend a series of lectures to be given on California at the Agricultural Extension Hall on each day, from 4 p. m. to 8 p. m., Sunday, commencing Monday, November 20. These lectures are given under the auspices of the California Promotion Committee, with the co-operation of the various Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade and other organizations of the State and will present a careful, accurate and graphic description of the industries, attractions, opportunities and different phases of California life. The lectures will be illustrated with stereoscopic views and moving pictures. Mr. Jennings considers these lectures of great value to the students of the University of California, and particularly the students of the Agricultural Extension Hall, who are engaged in the study of the various phases of California life. He has provided seating accommodations for a limited number of students each day, and has also arranged for the lecturers to be in the hall at 4 p. m. The lectures will be given in the hall at 4 p. m. The subjects of the later lectures will be announced in the daily papers. Tickets must be secured upon application to the Co-op.

MILLIONS INVOLVED IN THIS THEFT

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Leslie B. Murty, who was arrested yesterday charged with the larceny of a deed to oil lands in San Benito county, California, valued at $100,000, was arraigned in the Tombs Court yesterday. The complainant, John Walker, who said he was president of the Great California Producing Company, with offices here, charged that Murty, after giving the deed to the oil lands to the company, receiving in payment $10,000,000 in stock of the company, got it back on a pretext and refused to return it. Murty declared that he was and had been willing to return the deed, but that it had been stolen from his pocket while he was at work in the company's offices. The case was adjourned to this morning.

GAIN IN HEALTH. CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Recent reports of a steady gain in the condition of President William R. Harper of the University of Chicago were confirmed yesterday by his appearance on the campus. He was wheeled about in an invalid's chair and spent more than a half hour out doors. It was the first time Dr. Harper had been out doors since September. Although weak and showing traces of recent illness, he was declared to be much improved. He will spend part of each day out doors.

BIG STORE PLANNED

Berkeley May Profit Yet by Fire.

BERKELEY, Nov. 21.—It is very probable that a handsome building will be erected in the near future on the site of the old Shattuck Hall, which was burned to the ground last Saturday morning. This statement was made today by John Havens, the manager of the Shattuck estate, who is already besieged for space in the proposed new building. If the plans of a number of leading merchants of the city are carried out, Mr. Havens will be prevailed on to throw the entire floor of the new building into a great emporium or department store. The new building will cover the entire site of the old one, which had a frontage of 100 feet and a big depth. It will be several stories in height and will be thoroughly equipped with elevators and all other modern conveniences.

SUCCESS AT LAST!

Petroleum Used on Ores is O. K.

BERKELEY, Nov. 21.—Professor Christy of the mining department, University of California, has just received a letter from E. Elmore, the inventor of the Elmore process of concentrating ores by means of crude petroleum, in which he states that the Massey Station Copper Company, at Massey, Ontario, after experimenting for over three years on the treatment of their low grade copper ores, and after expending over $300,000 on the experiments, have made a success of the process by installing one of the Elmore plants for concentrating their ore by means of crude petroleum. There was a saving of 20 per cent in the capacity of their plant. From a 3 per cent copper ore a concentrate of 20 per cent is being turned out.

PERSONAL NOTES OF ELMHURST SOCIETY

ELMHURST, Nov. 21.—Captain and Mrs. Wheeler of Vallejo were down yesterday to call on her father, Dr. Lynch, and her mother, who is in the East Bay Sanatorium in Oakland. Captain Wheeler is the United States Government pilot on the island. Mrs. J. C. Jones has gone to Danville for a week to visit her daughter, Mrs. Keller. Stephen Pelton of San Jose was in town over Sunday on a visit to his brother, W. H. Pelton. The dance given last evening by the Elmhurst concert band was a notable success. There was a very generous attendance, and some of the dancers, attracted by the music, were induced to go to the orchestra for dancing. The band boys played for every other hour, and the orchestra played for the remainder of the evening. There was a supper party at the home of Manuel Olivera, on Wall street, Sunday evening to celebrate his birthday. It was a merry party for a deserving young man. There was also a merry children's party at the home of Manuel Olivera, on Saturday afternoon, to celebrate the eleventh birthday of his daughter Mamie. There were over twenty of her young playmates present.

MAYORS-ELECT TO HOLD CONVENTION

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Cleveland, Ohio, says: Mayor Johnson, with the authorization of Mayors-elect Dempsey, Badger and Whitlock of Cincinnati, Columbus and Toledo, respectively, yesterday called a meeting of all the Mayors-elect of Ohio cities to be held in this city, December 4. Mayor Dunne of Chicago and Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia will be present at the meeting. The meeting took on a national importance to prominent local politicians when they heard of it last night, and it was predicted that it might become one of the greatest forces in reform politics yet seen in the country. In speaking of the matter, Mayor Johnson said: "Primarily the idea in arranging the meeting is to form an organization of the Mayors of all the large cities. We want to get all of the reform Mayors into the organization if possible. With the organization formed we will discuss and arrange to fight for legislation that will be of benefit to the cities. The meeting as planned by the Mayor will be unique in the history of American politics."

TRUSTEES OF ALAMEDA HOLD SESSION

Grant Railroad Company Franchise For Blanding Avenue--Doings of the Day.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 21.—The City Trustees at the regular meeting last night unanimously passed the ordinance granting to the Central Pacific Railroad Company, its successors and assigns, a franchise for a spur track to extend from near the Fruitvale avenue tidal canal bridge along Blanding avenue westward to a point 800 feet beyond Oak street. Trustee Fritz Boehmer first introduced an amendment to the ordinance, which was seconded by Bowers and carried, stipulating that the right was reserved to grant a franchise to any other road along the same avenue at any future date. The franchise ordinance, to which there had been some objection on the part of residents of Blanding avenue and vicinity, was passed without comment. The financial report of the municipal electric light department for the month of October showed that the total earnings for the month were $4,291.75 and the total expense for operation $3,225.25, the net earning being $1,066.50. City Attorney M. W. Simpson reported that according to measurements made by the City Engineer, W. R. Poyser, a fence erected at the foot of Hawthorne street on the bay shore by private owners was some distance within the line of the tide lands, and consequently had no legal right there, as it blocked the street. On motion of Trustee Bowers, after some discussion, it was ordered that the fence be removed. Specifications were introduced and bids advertised for a new 240-horsepower engine for the electric light works, also for another generator of 354 horse power, as the present engine cannot carry the "peak" load. Chief of Police Conrad, on recommendation of Trustee Bowers, was authorized to remove to the street police telephones now located in the rear of grocery stores and saloons. Regular bills totaling $9,478.76, and special claims amounting to $100.00, were ordered paid, also payment of $179.50 on the Harrisburg engine purchased for the light works. An ordinance was introduced to raise the salary of employees of the fire department from $540 to $600, and to increase the salary of poundmaster at $65 per month.

FORCE IS GROWING.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 21.—The "Young Chestnuts" of the juvenile patrolmen organized by Manager Hartog for the protection from iconoclastic youths of the improved waiting room at the Alameda station, are growing in number constantly. A number of boys who conceived an erroneous idea from articles in the papers about the boy police called at the Alameda police office asking for details under the supervision of Chief Conrad, who has been pressing for the force increased for the protection of trees. The Young Chestnuts now have the following on their membership roll: Henry Chatterton, Harry Hartog, Harry Chatterton, Bruce Hill, Harry Conrad, Harold Warren, John Hardin, Sam Hardin, Henry Fares, Osborne Doane, Robert Benedict, Elsworth Le Mont, Austin James, Len Furch, Leonard Chatterton, Carl Bosworth, Henry Hink, Clarence Sidden, Charles Case, John Rohr, James Mackie, John Ansel, Austin Morris, Virgil Chatterton, Heywood Brooks, Carl Gay, Walter Pettar and Raymond Mendizabal. An effort will be made to provide a playground for the boys near the corner of Encinal avenue and Lafayette street.

CLUB SMOKER.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 21.—The Central Improvement Club Bay station, which has a "smoker" and free-for-all conversational evening tomorrow night in the Club's quarters in Encinal Hall, and the following invitation has been issued: "Dear Sir:—You are hereby invited to attend the Club's first 'social smoker' to be held at our club room, Encinal Hall, next Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. This meeting will be one of great importance and interest to all the members. A good time is promised. Your presence will add materially. You will please bring your male friends, and be on hand early. A lantern exhibition and refreshments with some 'good of the club' talk is promised. Indicative of the topics to be discussed informally at the smoker there is an interrogation on the invitation as follows: 'What do you know of the burning questions?' 1. Opening our streets through the marsh? 2. A recreation park for your children? 3. Better service on steam and electric roads? 4. Property values in your block? 5. The lighting of our station block? 6. Have we outgrown our charter? These and many other equally interesting topics have come before us at some of the meetings that you have missed. So come and get acquainted. If it's Bay station, it's Progress."

MASONIC TEMPLE

Grand Master is Former Policeman Demands New Trial.

BERKELEY, Nov. 21.—The attorney for Levi Moran, the former policeman, who was convicted of battery upon James Walter, a local newspaper man, are making an strenuous effort to secure a new trial for their client. Today Judge Edgar denied a motion for a new trial, but gave the lawyers until next Saturday to present new authorities to substantiate the exception that was taken. Moran's attorneys, Stacy Gibbs of this city and Archie Campbell of San Francisco, in presenting their arguments for a new trial, contended that venue had not been established. They held that on the witness stand it had been stated that the alleged attack had taken place in Berkeley, which was not specific enough. This point was overruled by the judge.

PRINCE OF PILSEN SCORES AT MACDONOUGH

Theater Was Packed to the Doors—
Music of Opera Was Enjoyed by All.

Every seat in the Macdonough Theater was occupied last evening and even the "Standing Room Only" card displayed in the box office window didn't prevent several scores of persons from witnessing the production of "The Prince of Pilsen."

This is the fourth year of the musical comedy and the audience of last evening was a testimonial that it has not gone backward in popular favor a single bit in that time.

This is, indeed, a distinct tribute to "The Prince of Pilsen," for in most instances the life of a musical comedy usually ends in the second or perhaps third season.

The score of "The Prince of Pilsen" is, perhaps, the most varied, musical and attractive to all ears ever written. It contains lightness, freshness and melody seldom secured by musical comedy compositions of this day.

There are the "Message of the Violets," "The Stein Song," "Hildeberg," "Keep It Dark," "Tale of the Sea Shell," "Our Floral Queen" and others that have kept "The Prince of Pilsen" above and ahead of productions of its kind.

The scenic effects, too, as offered last evening, were above the average. There is, also, an unusually strong and effective chorus. Particular mention must be made of the male chorus. It is the best heard here for many days and especially is this noticeable in "The Stein Song" and "Hildeberg."

It must be stated, however, that Arthur Donaldson, the prince, was a disappointment to many last evening. He was in very poor voice, and it is even said that he will never equal his success of previous seasons, for the reason that continuous work has worn away his voice.

See Dandy, the humorist, proved as popular as ever. His dip into real water of a real fountain was, perhaps, his most effective bit of comedy.

And his rendition of "Imagination" is his best song. In fact, he received as many rousies in it that he wore out his stock of voices and was unable to further please in that respect.

Ivar Anderson has a most pleasing voice, but the same cannot be truthfully said about his opposite, Red Peabody.

The part of Artie is most successfully carried out by J. Hayden Clarendon.

The entire company, taken together, pleased the audience last evening and the box office sales today show that another crowded house will greet "The Prince of Pilsen" when he makes his last appearance this evening at the Macdonough Theater.

Among those noticed in the audience were: Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Goodfellow, Dr. and Mrs. Brinkerhoff, J. P. Scott, Mrs. Baldwin, Mrs. Thomas Mein, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hanlin Jr., L. D. Magnus, Miss Magnus, Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Woolner.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Brock, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Reed, Mrs. D. and Mrs. L. F. Herrick, Miss Mollie Connors, Miss Margaret Connors, Miss Anita Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cotton, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Denison, Mr. and Mrs. B. Kitchener, Mr. and Mrs. George B. M. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rodolph, Mr. and Mrs. George Rodolph, George Strong, Miss Georgia Strong, Charles Ott, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. NEW BILL AT THE BELL THEATER

It is hard to determine which is the best act at the Bell Theater this week on account of the all-star turns that the management has secured.

The Burrows, who have one of the strongest juggling acts even in Oakland, are marvelous in their line. The act is billed as a trio, but when the supposed scarerow shows life, the house is tumultuous in well-deserved applause. The act, aside from the comedy turn, is excellent and the reputation which this team brings from the East and North is well carried out here.

The Reliance quartet, which is composed of four public school boys, is giving the successes of a fortnight ago. These singers, as soon as the curtain went up, were greeted with great applause and their rendering of popular songs makes the stronger their cleverness.

Lillian McBurnie, the comedienne and banjoist, has a very original turn. Miss McBurnie is well known throughout the city and her act is one of the best in the city. She is a headliner in the Western vaudeville houses. Manager Conn negotiated the act for the first time in Oakland.

There is a new series of amusing jokes, at one's own risk. The turn is very strong and each gulp is emphasized by the manner of delivery.

Gilbert, with his wonderful circus of trained animals, amuses people. The back of the house in the world, Pockaninny, aided by the antics of the rare monkey, creates shouts of laughter. The goats and dogs seem to understand every word spoken and from the start of the act to the whirlwind finish the attention is held.

An exceptionally fine series of pictures has been obtained by the management this week. The first reel shows the great mechanical streetcar of the London Underground, England. These pictures were taken under contract by the Bell people and are exclusively shown in Oakland for the first time.

Arthur Melvin is giving this week a new illustrated song entitled "Last Night as the Moon Was Shining."

CHOSEN REFEREE

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Justice Adams in the Supreme Court yesterday appointed John K. Creevey as referee in a suit brought by the Morton Trust Company to set aside the conveyance of the Morton building at 116 Nassau street, to the Morton Trust Company as "trustee."

In September, 1901, Mr. Morton conveyed the building to the Morton Trust Company and others as trustees for the benefit of Count Doss de Tallandier-Perigord, now Duke de Valencay, who was to receive the income from the building and later the entire property in view of the Count's marriage to Mr. Morton's daughter Helen, the property being conveyed in accordance with an ante nuptial contract.

Mr. Morton, in his complaint, says that the consideration for the conveyance of the property has failed for the reason that his daughter, who married the Count in October, later her marriage dissolved by judgment of the French courts. He says that all the contracts executed in France or in this country for the benefit of the count are declared by the French decrees to be void.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION NEARLY LOSES HALL

School Directors Divide on Question —Refuse Kindergarten—Extra Holiday.

The Board of Education split even last night on the proposition of allowing the University Extension people to hold their meetings in the Common School Assembly Hall if they attempted to ask any pay at the doors. It was explained by Superintendent McClymonds that the regular University Extension course cost the teachers that took it $2 each. If, however, any one not entitled to the course wished to hear one or more lectures without taking the entire course they could do so by paying 25 cents at the door. He viewed it in the light of an accommodation rather than otherwise.

Director Redington, however, viewed the matter in another light and said that it had been always understood that when school buildings were allowed to be used it was with the express understanding that no admission fee should be charged, and made a motion that the Secretary be instructed to notify those interested to this effect.

Director Pratt said he would like to make an explanation in regard to the matter and said:

"This work is for the benefit of the teachers. They pay $2 each and we have followed them the use of the building free. If we make them hire a hall it will cost them just so much more. The lectures cost money, and it seems to me immaterial whether the pay is at the door or by subscription before the lecture takes place."

IMPROVES SCHOOL.
Director Rogers also took this view of the matter. This is for the benefit of the school department, and what benefit the teachers gain improves the department by just so much.

The motion was then called for and put and the vote stood Crandall, Ingler, Noonan, Redington and Chitt to exclude the teachers if any entrance fee was asked and Hathaway, Pratt, Rogers, Wilson, Ward against such action. The motion was declared lost as it takes six votes to pass a resolution of this character.

WANTS TO KNOW WHY.
Director Redington said that while they were on the subject he would like to ask by what authority the Women's Civic Improvement Club was meeting in the Assembly Hall.

Superintendent McClymonds stated that he had given Mayor Olney permission to have the first meeting there and that he was not sure but that just that one time, but that they had continued the meetings there right along.

Director Redington then moved that the secretary be instructed to write to the club about the matter. This motion was adopted.

REFUSE KINDERGARTEN.
In regard to the request of prominent charity workers in West Oakland who conduct a free kindergarten there and who have made fee request to the school department, the following report was made last night by the Finance and Classification committees to which the matter was referred:

"At the last meeting of the Board of Education the offer of the West Oakland Kindergarten Association to transfer their school in West Oakland to the public schools was referred to the joint committee of the Committee on Finance and the Committee on Classification.

"After consideration, your committee for financial reasons, are compelled to recommend that the offer of the West Oakland Kindergarten Association at this time be declined. Upon discussion it was found to be the unanimous opinion of the members of the two committees that as soon as the new Prescott School building is completed a kindergarten should be opened in West Oakland and as soon as this time arrives, we shall be glad to co-operate with the ladies to the advantage in the kindergarten children of West Oakland."

MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS.
The following recommendations made by the Committee on School Houses and Sites were adopted:

"Our Committee on School Houses and Sites recommends that consideration and adoption of the following recommendations:

"That changes be made in the Grant school plans as follows:

"That a vent pipe be installed so as to permit the ventilation of the four main rooms, the total cost of this not to exceed $58.

"That the contractor be required to put in place four posts and piers in basement for the extra cost of this not to exceed $40.

"That this will make an extra cost of $98.

"We would also recommend that a change be made in the contract for the wood work and brick work of the Market street school, so as to require the installing of twenty-four inch transoms over the doors leading from the corridors into the class rooms. The extra brick work to insure no additional expense, the extra cost on the wood work to be $40.

EXTRA COST.
"An error has been made in the specifications of the Market street school building in that the furring of the cross filling joist, in order to get four nails to a lath, was omitted. We would recommend that a change be made requiring the carpenter to put this furring as detailed by the architect, the extra cost of same to be $100.

"That architect reports having made a change without authority of the Board, in that before the resolution of the Board preventing a change being made without authority of the Board was transmitted to him, whereby $55 extra was added for the arches over openings in interior brick walls. These have not been included in the specifications. Your committee report this extra to the Board without recommendation.

"We would recommend that a requisition be drawn upon the Board of Public Works for the installing in the sub-basement of the High School electric lights in accordance with a diagram of wiring herewith submitted, the cost of this work not to exceed $75.

"An offer has been received from the Hutchinson Co., a corporation, to macadamize curb with granite and lay a cement sidewalk six feet wide at the following prices: The macadamizing to be at the rate of $1.50 per front foot; the granite curbing 6x16 inches to be placed at the rate of 95 cents per lineal foot, and the cement walk to be laid at the rate of 10 cents a square foot.

MATTER OF SIDEWALKS.
"The Board of Education owns $52.4 front feet on Sixty-first street. The cost of the aforesaid improvements, including $137 for the intersection of Sixty-first street with Shattuck avenue, including curbing, will aggregate a total cost of approximately $900. It is to be stipulated and agreed by private contract, that the work is to be completed, accepted and paid for out of the funds of the next fiscal year, a written opinion of the City Attorney having been received by the committee that this step will be legal.

Your committee somewhat questions the specifications for the sidewalk. We would ask that the matter of this work be again referred to the committee for consideration, and that if said committee finds that the work can be done in a satisfactory manner and to the entire satisfaction of the Board of Education, including engineers and inspection fees, for a sum of money not to exceed $2700, then we would ask that the Secretary and President of the Board be authorized to sign a private contract that shall be approved by the City Attorney for the completion of this work, it being expressly understood that the work is to be completed, accepted and paid for some time during the next fiscal year."

FILE PETITIONS.
Mrs. Florence D. Jackson was granted admission to the teachers' class in manual training.

N. B. Vail of 1015 Eighth street has filed an application for a janitorship in the public schools.

COMPLAINTS OF MRS. WILSON.
Another complaint has been lodged against Mrs. E. A. Wilson, principal of the Piedmont School and formerly principal of the Temescal School. A. H. Truhen wants the Board to look into the matter of a controversy between the teacher and his boy and the matter has been referred to the Rules and Regulation Committee for investigation.

The complaint submits that the discipline of the Piedmont School has been destroyed since the present principal has been in charge, and one instance showing the condition of affairs is cited, where the complainant states that on a visit to the school a number of children gathered around and freely talked in an uncomplimentary manner about the accused as a teacher.

One item in the complaint is that the accused takes up too much time in lecturing the children and practicing them in marching.

Another is in relation to the manner in which the orders of the Board that the children be allowed to sit on certain benches provided in the grounds. It is charged that at first the principal forbade the children to sit on these benches and afterward when the superintendent's order overruling this was made that she stipulated that only a certain number could use the seats at one time.

The complaint charges that the good of the school demands the removal of the principal.

GIVEN PERMISSION.
The Oakland High School football team was granted permission to use the High School gymnasium for an entertainment for the benefit of the team.

EXTRA HOLIDAY.
The Board also decided that the Friday following Thanksgiving should be a holiday and the secretary was ordered to prepare an order to this effect to circulate through the schools.

HAYWARD NOTES
HAYWARD, November 21.—Town Trustee Peterson and his confederates of the town board of Hayward have arrived home from the convention of California municipalities at Chico, and report a large and profitable time.

The baseball game between the Young Heesmans and the Independents of St. Mary's College, of Oakland, at Hayward Sunday did not occur. The rain did occur.

Cashier Parke is superintending the putting in of the fixtures of the new Farmers and Merchants Bank of Hayward in one part of the new Hays building. In the other side of which the Hays is now all right.

The Choral Union is scheduled to have its first meeting Wednesday evening of this week in the High School building. The ladies of the Presbyterian Church are preparing for a church bazaar.

TO WATCH THINGS.
CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Chief of Police Collins issued an order yesterday detaining twenty-four detectives to special duty in various parts of the city to watch for hold-up men. From 7 o'clock at night until 4 o'clock in the morning they are to roam through the districts frequented by robbers and be on the alert to prevent hold-ups and burglaries. In connection with the new crusade all handouts arrested are to be shown to the policemen at the principal stations as an aid to future identification.

TREATY FAVORED.
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The foreign creditors of the Dominican Government have through their counsel, ex-Judge William W. Cohen of this city, advised the State Department at Washington that they favor the passage of the treaty.

"Why not tell the truth?" asks the Boston Herald. The reason is that employment must be found for the lawyers.—Washington Post.

The baseball game between the Young Heesmans and the Independents of St. Mary's College, of Oakland, at Hayward Sunday did not occur. The rain did occur.

Cashier Parke is superintending the putting in of the fixtures of the new Farmers and Merchants Bank of Hayward in one part of the new Hays building. In the other side of which the Hays is now all right.

The Choral Union is scheduled to have its first meeting Wednesday evening of this week in the High School building. The ladies of the Presbyterian Church are preparing for a church bazaar.

TO WATCH THINGS.
CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Chief of Police Collins issued an order yesterday detaining twenty-four detectives to special duty in various parts of the city to watch for hold-up men. From 7 o'clock at night until 4 o'clock in the morning they are to roam through the districts frequented by robbers and be on the alert to prevent hold-ups and burglaries. In connection with the new crusade all handouts arrested are to be shown to the policemen at the principal stations as an aid to future identification.

TREATY FAVORED.
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The foreign creditors of the Dominican Government have through their counsel, ex-Judge William W. Cohen of this city, advised the State Department at Washington that they favor the passage of the treaty.

"Why not tell the truth?" asks the Boston Herald. The reason is that employment must be found for the lawyers.—Washington Post.

The Rev. Dr. Huntington says that he never saw an angel with whiskers. This would indicate that angels do sometimes go to the right place after all.—Minneapolis Journal.

Free Pile Cure

Why Suffer When By Merely Sending Name and Address You Can Have a Free Trial Package of a Remedy
That Will Cure You.

We receive hundreds of letters like the following: "I have been feeling so good I could hardly believe it, after suffering with piles for a year, to find that I am once more feeling like myself. I wish you could tell me when before I started using Pyramid Pile Cure and look at me now, and you would say I am not the same man. I have gained 20 pounds, and all on account of Pyramid Pile Cure." Walter Shadley, 55 Park street, Springfield, Mass.

"I bought a fifty-cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure and used as directed with the most unexpected results, a complete cure. I have been troubled with piles for thirty years and was in much distress and passed much blood, but at present am free from any kind of piles." R. McKay, Weaverville, N. C.

Pyramid Pile Cure has been worth thousands of dollars to me; it cured me after using numbers of other remedies and taking medicines from doctors. It also cured my son, although he could hardly walk, eat or sleep; he is now all right." Springfield, Mass., Postmaster, Elko, S. C.

By the use of Pyramid Pile Cure you will avoid an unnecessary, trying and expensive examination by a physician and will rid yourself of your trouble in the privacy of your own home at trifling expense.

After using the free trial package which we gladly mail you, in a perfectly plain wrapper, you can secure regular full-size packages from drug stores at 50 cents each, or we will mail direct in plain package upon receipt of price. Pyramid Drug Company, 556 Pyramid Building, Marshall, Mich.

The first bottle will benefit, if not, the druggist will return your money.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure

It feeds, strengthens and builds up the nerves and muscles of the heart so they can do their work. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is a marvelous remedy. I always use it when cardiac trouble is present. It needs no medical skill and is perfectly safe. It is sold in all drug stores and completely. J. C. P. BUCHHEIMER, M. D., 466 Mass. Ave., Boston, Mass.

We are the Largest Users of the Finest Patent Leather in the World

Everybody acknowledges that the finest patent leather in the world (and the most expensive) is produced at the famous tanneries of Cornelius Heyl in Worms, Germany.

We have received a signed statement from the American agents of Heyl that we are by far the largest users of this splendid leather. "Only one more proof that the Regal is a 'six-dollar shoe at the wholesale price'—for the genuine Heyl patent leather is imported principally for use in making the Regal shoes. Heyl's patent leather is brilliant and stays brilliant. The lacquer is applied by a secret process to the flesh side of the skin and worked in deep, so that it becomes an actual part of the leather. More than all, it is flexible and goes safely through the severe hand-lasting process which makes the Regal hold its shape so well.

75 Regal Styles—and the Regular Price, Right Through the List, is $3.50 As Usual.

But to meet an insistent demand we have made up a stock of 15 styles at $4.00 per pair that we could never before include in the Regal list. The new Regal made here is one of the best in the world. It is made of the finest leather, lined with buckram, plain black strap and custom made—special order—$4.00 anywhere. Price $4.00.

Quarter-Sizes as in all other Regals.
